Senate Slices Money Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Senate has sliced a $21.5 million House appropriations bill in half and tossed it back to the House for consideration this afternoon.

The House could accept the changes or reject them and send the bill to a conference committee to work out the differences.

The senate, meanwhile, met today to confirm dozens of appointments by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to boards and agencies.

Only one money amendment out of a half dozen attempts was successful Wednesday and the Senate approved, 31-2, a $10.8 million measure. The no votes were cast by Sens. Raymond Howard, D-St. Louis, and Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro.

Hearnes asked for $23.5 million when he called the special session Sept. 6. The state now has $23 million in available money in the general fund.

The only money item added by the Senate was $369,000 to give five per cent pay raises to more than $6,000 non academic employes at the University of Missouri. The University had offered increases of four per cent.

Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, made the motion after he failed by two votes in getting an amendment for $558,000, which would have provided 5.5 per cent pay increases. His second motion passed, 18-11. Vanlandingham said that the non academic employes had been neglected for years while teachers' salaries were increased.

A statement of legislative intent by Sen. John A. Johnson, D-Affton, also was approved.

Under the constitutional amendment for government reorganization, approved in the primary election, the legislature has the power to digtate how appropriations will be spent. The governor vetoed a similar statement of intent in last spring's money bills on the grounds it was an attempt to legislate in an appropriation bill.

Johnson's amendment would require all money appropriated in the emergency bill to be spent on a planned basis for the next nine months. No expenditure could exceed 15 per cent of the monthlyl average without specific approval of the legislative Fiscal Affairs Committee.

Howard, saying the Senate also should act on "human repairs," was unsuccesaful, 18-15, in getting $1 million restored for scholarships up to $900 a year for needy college students. The governor had asked for $1.8 million and the House trimmed off $802,000.

The appropriations committee allowed $37,000 to gear up the program for the start of the 1973 school year. Sen. Donald Manford, D-Kansas City, the appropriations chairman, the agreement for delayed funding of the actual grants was the only way the scholarship bill was able to pass last spring.

Blackwell failed on a 16-16 vote to reinstate $1.2 million for junior colleges, saying the junior colleges had too long been treated as the "stepchild" of higher education.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, RCarthage, sponsored the bill to bring the state aid to junior colleges up to $400 0er student, but was out of the Senate chambers when Blackwell's amendment was voted upon.

Webster said later he would have voted against the amendment because of testimony showing that the junior colleges had $1.8 million in undistributed funds they were holding pending funding of the bill. The unspent funds will allow the per-student aid to be increased from $320 to $380, Webster said.

The $1.8 million would have been used to expand vocational education programs if the $1.2 million request had been allowed to stand. Manford said more money could be written into the junior college budget in the next General Assembly to fund the grants.

"I find it rather amusing when you have to direct someone to spend the money," Blackwell said, adding that he was told a different story about the junior college financial situation.

Increased state aid for junior colleges was recommended in a six-year study made public a month ago by the state Commission on Higher Education.

Blackwell and Sen. John D. Schneider, D-Florissant, got into a lively debate over Schenider's amendment to reinstate $40,000 for a St. Louis center for the developmentally disabled. The amendment was defeated.

No funds were to be appropriated, Blackwell said, until there was a commitment of $100,000 in federal money. Schneider contended that funds could be appropriated but not expended, under the wording of the bill, until the federal money was available.

"Once the money is appropriated," Blackwell retored, "I've never seen it come back."

There was little debate on the biggest single cut, $7 million for increasing nursing home payments. The increased payments are being made from federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare funds. The federal money runs out next March 31 and the appropriations committee felt the funds could be

Inspectors Score Local Jaycee Pool

The Jaycee swimming pool has come under criticism from the State Department of Health following a routine inspection of the pool on Aug. 29. None of the criticism are of a serious nature, however.

Rick Adams, president of the Jaycees, said today the organization is trying to find a solution to the problems.

Among the shortcomings listed were the lack of a rate of flow gauge on the recirculation system, improper location and venting of chlorination equipment, lack of chlorine gas masks, lack of soap and hot water at the showers, lack of posted safety regulations and a low acidity rate in the water.

Adams said the acidity rate is usually well within required levels, but that the investigators checked the pool the day before it closed for the season and the level had dropped with lack of pool use.

The report said the water should be recirculated at least three times daily for proper circulation and filtration. The rate of flow gauge is used for this purpose.

Chlorination equipment is in the same room with the treatment equipment. The report said if a chlorine leak developed it would present a hazard to maintenance personnel and could cause corrosive damage to the treatment equipment.

Adams said the filtration system is old and will probably be replaced if it is monetarily feasible.

HIS FORTE?

Senator George McGovern's proposed economic policies have been re-shuffled several times. That is almost understandable. McGovern is an historian taking economic advice from various areas. What is harder to understand is his failure to relate history to his plans.

In 1936, French socialist Leon Blum's Popular Front swept him into power. Blum had a wide following among youth and intellectuals, who zealously wanted to put their "Make the Rich Pay" and "Bread, Peace and Liberty" slogans into effect.

Blum vigorously attacked the 200 families who allegedly owned France. He claimed to be a friend of the working man. Today, after much government tinkering with the market place mechanism, French workers still are among the lowest paid in industrailized nations. Whatever Blum and the socialists gave them, it was eaten up by the inflation that accompanies over-centralized economies.

The "Bread, Peace and Liberty" shibboleth fared even worse. Cutting back military spending while Hitler's Germany was rearming at breakneck speed, the Popular Front left France in a weakened state. In 1940, Germany overran France in a few weeks. Over 25 million American, British, Russian and French lives were lost restoring "Bread, Peace and Liberty" to France.

McGovern's plans for large-scale tampering with the economy and reliance on the good will of nations who rarely show good will is a grave threat to America. It is a threat he should realize as an historian. But if he is ignorant in his own field, what can we expect from him in other matters?

AROUND THE WORLD
WITH THOMAS COOK

Thomas Cook, founding father of the travel-agency business, hit upon a wild idea 100 years ago. He decided to escort 10 British tourists around the world for 210 guineas each. That come to $580 a head at today's rate of exchange, and it was a bargain even then. Accordingly, the voyagers set out Sept. 20, 1872, on a journey that took them by clipper ship across the Atlantic, by rail across America, and then to Japan, China, Singapore, Ceylon and Suez before the final leg back to Pall Mall's clubland.

During the 25,000 -mile trip, Cook wrote letters to the London Times and Daily Mail describing his experiences. On. Nov. 6, 1872, he wrote that, in America, "The speed of trains is not equal to that of the English lines. The Pacific Express of the Union and Central Pacific lines ... only attains an average of about 19 miles per hour between New York and San Francisco, including short stoppages of 20 or 25 minutes three times a day for refreshments, and longer delays at the junctions of the lines. It takes about 170 hours to go 3,300 miles, and that includes seven nights in succession in the sleeping car."

Cook, who was accustomed to taking English gentlemen around the continental tour circuit, did not enjoy American sleepers. "The admixture of strangers and sexes is very repulsive to English travelers," he wrote. Furthermore, "There are no second-class cars, but the holders of second class tickets for the Pacific route are generally restricted to the use of cars appropriated to smokers."

Only the Erie line from New York to Buffalo met with Cook's approval. The group traveled through New York State in a "really pleasant drawing- room car, beautifully carpeted and furnished with elbow chairs, mounted on columns, and capable of being turned about in any direction." Although Thomas Cook & Sons is currently offering an abbreviated version of the 1872 tour, no amount of money can bring back the style and adventure of those early days of globe-trotting.

GOLD STAR
MOTHERS

An old photograph shows a group of women on a patriotic march, some carrying American flags and one in the foreground with a proud, hand-lettered banner proclaiming: "I was born in 1863 -- the spirit of war surrounded me – Now the spirit of war has come again – And I have a son with The Fighting Men!" Her son was a soldier of World War I, and if he was one of the 109,740 Americans to die in that war, she probably wore a gold star on her black arm band. The gilt star had become a symbol of the willing sacrifice of the war dead and their families. "The glory of death should be emphasized rather than its sadness," said a contemporary news article.

In 1928 a group of women who had lost children in the war banded together to form the American Gold Star Mothers, Inc. One year after the next global conflict broke out, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a proclamation (Sept. 14, 1940) designating the last Sunday in September as Gold Star Mothers Day. By the end of World War II, during which 292,131 Americans died in battle, the organization's membership had grown considerably.

Popular culture idealized World War II mothers, and assured them that their losses were not in vain. President Roosevelt's proclamation praised mothers as "the fountainhead of the State," and "the greatest source of the Country's strength and inspiration." On the lighter side, writer Philip Wylie observe, "I cannot think, offhand, of any civilization except ours in which an entire division of living men has been used, during wartime ... to spell out the word 'mom' on a drill field."

The Gold Star Mothers conduct their annual observance in Arlington National Cemetery -- this year on Sunday, Sept. 24. The majority of their 21,000 members lost children in the Second World War, but some joined after the Korean conflict and about 2,600 are "Vietnam mothers." Since 1961, 45,857 Americans have died fighting in Southeast Asia. For many of their mothers, the gold star has lost some of its glory.

UPOPIA, JAKE
WITH US ALL

Who says American voters never have a choice, only an echo? A fellow named Jacob J. Gordon of Worcester, Mass., has declared himself a candidate for president on the National Government ticket with a platform that makes those of every other party look like exercises in namby- pambyism.

Stating that "all Americans and the entire world realizes (sic) that present existing federal government of the United States is totally, completely and hopelessly corrupt from top to bottom," Gordon offers a platform which includes the following pledges:

(1) The complete removal of American troops from Vietnam within 72 hours. (2) Guaranteed $10,000 earned minimum annual income for all families and $500 minimum monthly pension for all elderly. (3) Replacement of all federal employes with new employes. (4) Bar all lawyers from serving as judges in any court. (5) Abolish the national debt. (6) Abolish all labor unions, which will no longer be necessary. (7) Eliminate crime, inflation and unemployment for all time and return morality and God to the United States for all time. (8) Reduce all taxes by a minimum of 75 per cent.

Incidentally, "the armed services will in no way be effected (sic) by the transition of government."

The platform will be adopted in convention assembled in New York City on Sept. 1. For those who can't attend, at the bottom of Gordon's campaign literature is a handy form for applying for a job in the new "National Government of the United States," with a space for the position applied for — "Congressmen, Judge, Clerk, other positions available."

"Three million government jobs are yours for the asking!" says Gordon.

ENGINE EFFICIENCY

A common motorist complaint is a knocking or "pinging" sound from the engine. American Oil lists several causes of knock your mechanic should investigate: 1) "Lean" fuel- air mixture caused by a poorly adjusted carburetor 2) Combusion chamber deposits which raise the temperature of the incoming mixture and increase the compression ratio. 3) You may be using a gasoline that has a lower octane number than that needed by your car's engine. But remember, a high octane number won't help your car start faster in cold weather ... nor will buying a higher octane number gasoline than your engine requires increase your car's performance.

NO FAULT INSURANCE DEAD FOR THIS SESSION

"No fault" insurance seems to be dead for this session of Congress, chiefly because of objections of the national attorney's organization.

It will probably be revived and may be passed in the next session.

The law would largely eliminate the necessity of going into expensive court preceedings to determine who is at fault in an accident. It would require the insurance companies to pay the holder of an accident policy for damage done, regardless of who is at fault.

We can't particularly blame the attorneys for trying to protect their own interests, and it may also be that they are right and that such a law is unfair to those who are not at fault when an accident occurs. However, we'd like to see the plan tried and believe it would result in more speedy payments by the insurance companies, and therefore improved service to the policyholders.

ILLOGICAL REASONING

Profits, it has often been said, are the source of new opportunities, higher employment and needed expansion of productive enterprise. Somehow, however, the truth of this message has failed to reach enough people, and a lot of politicians still talk out of both sides of their mouths. In one breath, they damn profits and big business. In the next, they call for more government programs of onykind or another to create jobs -- at the expense of taxpayers. Their hypocrisy is nowhere more evident than in the electric industry.

Electric service is a necessity in every home, business and facotry. Consumers get far more for their money in electric service than anything else they have to buy. Still, it remains standard political strategy to condemn increases in electric rates as inflation pushes up the price of everything, including labor, that enters into the operation of an electric company. Disregarded is the necessity of an electric company to earn profits the same as any other enterprise if it is to provide jobs and expanded electric energy production. The electric industry is one of the most "capital intensive" in the nation. This means it takes more money to provide jobs and produce electric power than is required in most other businesses. For instance, in 1902, investment per employee in the power industry was $18,090. By 1955, this had risen to $90,224, and by 1969, an investment of $226,569 was required for each employee.

Capital investment on this scale is only possible in an industry that is paying its bills, earning a profit and offering a promise of steady growth and progress. Those who automatically oppose utility rate increases in the electric industry as they become necessary would cut the ground from under the foundation of investor confidence and private employment.

Cleveland's shortage of hotel rooms is well known. During one recent convention, a hotel clerk told an arriving delegate that the hotel had only one room with a bath available, that it was taken.

"Would you mind sharing a bath with another man?" the clerk asked the conventioneer.

"Why, of course not," said the delegate. "Not as long as he stays at his end of the tub."

REBUKING THE UNITED NATIONS

Congress has finally taken some constructive steps regarding the United Nations. In the past the Senate and the House seemed willing to give the U.N. almost anything it asked for, but apparently this attitude is beginning to change.

The Senate has refused to go along with the U.N. -sponsored boycott of Rhodesia, voting down an attempt by Senator William Fulbright of Arkansas to repeal last year's law permitting the importation of chrome and other strategic materials from Rhodesia. After the voting, Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, the original sponsor of the law permitting the import of Rhodesian chrome, pointed out that the "roll call votes on this legislation in the Senate and in the House taken together constitute support from 46 of the 50 states. Clearly this is not a regional matter; it is a national matter."

The House of Representatives also rebuked the U.N. by voting a decrease in U.S. contributions to its budget. The State Department had favored an increase of $22 million, but the appropriations subcommittee in charge of the State Department budget cut back the U.S. share of U.N. funds from last year's 31 per cent to 25 per cent. The full House upheld the committee action by a vote of 202- 156. This is the first time that Congress has cut back U.S. funds to the U.N.

These actions clearly show how much Congress is becoming dissatisfied with the United Nations. It is a hopeful sign that so many of our representatives are beginning to have a truer picture of the U.N. and are no longer willing to give it their unqualified support. HLH

Kindly Parold Board Says Ex -Teamsters' Chief Can Still Fly to Hanoi Any Time He Wants

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON —I have it on the most excellent authority that the powerful Federal Board of Parole collectively does not believe that James Riddle Hoffa, Lewisburg Penitentiary's ex -No. 33298, convicted of attempting to defraud a Teamsters' pension fund of some $1 million, would do the U.S. any harm by jetting to Hanoi.

That authority is Maurice Sigler, new chairman of the Parole Board. Last Wednesday, Sept. 13, in view of the exposure of Jimmy Hoffa's personal representative William Leonard Taub, as slick a get -rich -quck artist as ever was invented, the Parold Board reviewed the Hoffa Case.

This review becomes especially significant in light of the sensitive, secretive conferences in Paris between national security adviser Henry Kissinger, who was duped by Taub, and the Hanoi politburo's powerful Le Duc Tho.

Chairman Sigler tells me that the parole board did not rescind permission for Hoffa to travel abroad for 30 days --though high White House officials are saying grimly, through clenched teeth, he'll never leave these shores while under parole.

"We made our decision on the theory that we made a reasonable and appropriate decision in the first place," said Sigler. "We are not going to change it. We will do nothing about it despite that other fellow. Hoffa is still permitted to go. It is our judgment after reading the newspapers that this man has done nothing to change our minds.

"We take this case on its own merit. It is our judgment that there is no danger in any way to our government or that he might do anything detrimental to our country."

That's odd. Especially since the Secret Service, the FBI and the Justice Dept., not to mention a network of other investigators, private and official, know that Taub had a rather Kafkaesque conversation with Le Duc Tho in Communist Sofia, Bulgaria, many months ago.

According to sources that should know, the following happened. Taub walked in on Le Duc Tho, Hanoi's top Paris peace negotiator, as a champion of a great cause --the rehabilitation of a martyr. Reportedly Taub said he had a martyr for Le Duc Tho –a man martyred by the imperialists because this martyr was the leader of the American working class, the leader of the world's biggest union, a man who had just been released from a capitalist prison where he had been placed by the imperialists.

The martyr, of course, was and is Jimmy Hoffa.

Taub said it would be a great touch if Hoffa were invited to Hanoi (where Hoffa wanted to go anyway and where he had already been invited through other channels).

Le Duc Thos thought well of the idea and approved. Taub then returned to Hoffa, told him he could expedite the Hanoi venture. Taub also had called the St. Louis -based Teamsters fourth vice president Harold Gibbons, and David Livingston, president of New York -based District 65 of the Distributive Workers (independent).

Gibbons conferred with Taub. Livingston, who had been in Hanoi with Gibbons last March, told Taub to stop bothering him.

Then began, with Hoffa's approval, Taub's bombardment of the White House, the Justice Dept., the State Dept., and Dr. Kissinger's national security section. Part of the Hoffa -Taub deal, of course, was the cleansing of Jimmy so he could return to his Detroit local union 299 and, with Gibbons, plan to unseat his successor, Teamster general president Frank Fitzsimmons.

During this time Hoffa had written to the Justice Dept., seeking permission to get into the Presidential campaign. The reply was negative –in a very firm fashion. Hoffa has that letter.

Why, then, if the Justice Dept., of which the parole board is a section, would not approve Hoffa's participation in American politics, would the board approve Hoffa's participation in international politics? Why would it permit him to fly to Paris and Hanoi on his own?

Jimmy Hoffa is no union leader. He isn't even an active member of the Teamsters since he withdrew his million -dollar pension.

He leads no movement. He heads no committee. He speaks for no one but himself.

Certainly it is his privilege to be free under parole. But why free to interfere in the sensitive matter of prisoners -of -war release? It is naive and, it seems to me, provincial of the parole board members to think that he can do this nation no harm by seeming to represent it in Hanoi.

There is a knowledgeable and sophisticated network of labor movements abroad. During my recent travels, French, Italian, German and British national labor leaders expressed satisfaction that Hoffa no longer was an American labor official and wondered what his freedom meant. Would he again take over the Teamsters? They know his record, his allies and his relations with underworld characters. America would be demeaned in their eyes if Jimmy Hoffa could bull his way into international diplomacy.

These foreign labor leaders often are powerful forces, officially and unofficially, in their governments. They would be shocked by the appearance of Hoffa on the world scene –seemingly sponsored or at least approved of by our government.

Just what does Sigler mean when he says this would not be "detrimental to our country"?

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON —Senator Edmund Muskie's Senate subcommittee was busily digging up dirt on his Democratic rivals during the presidential primaries.

Confidential memos from the files of Muskie's Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations are packed with derogatory information against Senators George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey and Governor George Wallace. All three battled Muskie for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The research on the candidates was done by staff members whose salaries were paid by the taxpayers.

One four -page memo rips into McGovern's inconsistencies on the Vietnam War.

"So far," declares the report, "George McGovern has gotten away with portraying himself as a man of conscience who was always endowed with the vision and courage to fight our military involvement in Vietnam."

The memo quotes McGovern's statement that "There has seldom been a day in the last eight years that my heart has not literally ached for that bloody conflict." Then the memo cites McGovern's early pro -war votes and statements as "some of the less publicized symptoms of George McGovern's heartache."

Another staff memo dated February 17, 1972 begins: "McGovern has made it appear that he was 'right' /on Vietnam and 'right' on the defense budget ever since he got out of diapers." Then it ticks off several "little known facts" from McGovern's pro -Vietnam record.

The memo adds: "The notion that Senator McGovern is the leading liberal in the Democratic party, compared to Senator Muskie, has little validity. In their ratings of senators, the liberal Americans for Democratic Action have assigned a higher career 'liberal quotient' for Senator Muskie than Senator McGovern"

—The "Real' Humphrey —

A staff memo on Hubert Humphrey, who ran with Muskie on the 1968 Democrat ticket, begins with the challenge: "Will the real Hubert Humphrey please stand up?"

The opener is blistering: "Hubert Humphrey has been running for office so long and so loud that his right mouth doesn't seem to know any more what his left mouth is saying. Here are some examples of the recent record of Hubert Humphrey, the flip -flop candidate."

There follow five pages of Humphrey's alleged inconsistencies.

But George Wallace receives the harshest treatment from Muskie's researchers. "When Wallace became governor," a staff memo asserts, "Alabama was ranked 47th among the states in per capita income. When the George and Lurleen stewardship ended, Alabama had dropped to 48th...

"While posing as a friend of the working man, Wallace was telling northern businessmen that they should come to Alabama because it was, as he described it, 'the Profit Opportunity State.'

"These days Wallace is warning the Democrats and Republicans: 'They had better give tax relief to the working man and put the burden on the shoulders of the filthy rich on Wall Street.'

"What he doesn't mention was that, during the Wallace regime, he rammed a law through the state legislature that provided that taxes on corporations could only be raised by constitutional amendment --literally an impossibility in the Wallace -dominated legislature...

—The Forefront —

"When Wallace was running for governor back in 1962, he promised to 'put Alabama in the forefront of the South and give the state a public school system equal to any in the U.S.A.' But after 10 years of talk, Alabama's schools are in worse shape today than they were when Wallace was elected."

Muskie told us that he was unaware that his subcommittee staff had produced "negative research" against opposing candidates. He suggested that individual staff members must have done the work voluntarily on their own time.

The subcommittee staff director, Alvin From, acknowledged to us that he had supervised "to some extent" the staff researchers who produced the memos for Muskie. While admitting some overlapping, he said most of the political work had been done voluntarily by staffers on their own time.

The "negative research," he said, had been done chiefly by Joe Albright who was a volunteer and drew only a nominal $108 -a -month subcommittee salary for three months.

Some of the memos, however, were signed by Tom Rauh and Al Friendly who drew full pay from the subcommittee. From emphasized that the subcommittee handled its full load of legitimate work throughout the campaign.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a fisherman gets tired of hearing:

"That one's so little you'll surely throw it back, won't you?"

"I don't think you and your friends actually do any fishing at all. I think you just stay up late and play poker and drink."

"I think you'd be glad to have your wife come along. After all, when the fish aren't biting, you'd have me to talk to."

"If you catch anything, and I'll admit that's highly unlikely, don't bring it home and expect me to cook it. I don't want you getting scales all over the kitchen cleaning it, and I don't want to smell up the whole house with it when I put it on the stove."

"If you buy a new rod and reel, I'm going to buy a new dress and hat."

"You know this is the first time I've ever gone fishing with you, George, so don't get mad at the questions I ask. Just tell me one thing and I won't bother you anymore. Which end of the worm do you put on the hook?"

"The thing I hate about fishing is that it is so unfair. A fish is just a poor dumb little thing that lives with its head under water, while you, George, have had the benefits of a college education."

"It's silly of you to think that I am jealous of your fishing, George. And I don't think you are using it as an excuse to go out with another woman. No woman with any self-respect would be caught dead going out with you dressed in that costume."

"George, I can't help it if I was the one that caught the biggest fish of the day. I wasn't even trying. The silly thing just wouldn't stay off my hook, that's all. When we get back, I'll tell everybody that you were the one who caught it, not me. How will you quit being mad at me?"

"What do you need all that expensive gear for? All I use is an old pole, some string, a hook and some old slices of bacon rind, and I never come home with less than 10 pounds of fish."

"What I can't understand, George, is why you don't take up some useful hobby while you're fishing, say crocheting or needlepoint."

Letter Bombs Spreading Around Western Hemisphere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The plot to kill Israelis with booby-trapped mail parcels spread to Africa today after intensive police searches turned up bombs in North America and across Europe.

Israeli officials also reported they are getting tough with persons trying to inflict their own personal vengeance on Arab terrorists.

The Israeli foreign ministry said three of the envelopes containing the bombs were found today addressed to embassy officials in Kinshasa, the capital of Zaire, the former Belgium Congo.

They were discovered in the embassy's postal delivery box before any went off. A spokesman said the bombs were similar to those found earlier this week in Paris, London, Brussels, Geneva, Vienna, Tel Aviv, Montreal and New York. One of them killed a diplomat in London, but the others were found before they were detonated.

Meanwhile, Israeli police cracked down to prevent Jewish vengeance attacks in Europe. "We are not planning any illegal operations," one official said.

Israel's state radio reported that police were holding former Israeli underground fighter on suspicion of trying to ship arms to Europe for attacks on Arab terrorists or Arab interests.

The radio identified him as Amihai Paglin, once operations commander of the Irgun terrorist movement. The Irgun fought against the British army before Israel won independence.

Two days ago the militant Jewish Defense League announced that one of its members also was arrested for trying to smuggle weapons abroad for counter-terrorist operations following the Munich Olympic murders.

As the letter bomb scare mounted in Israel, police said 14 of the explosive-laden envelopes had been found in the country. Like all of the others, they were mailed from Amsterdam, officials said.

Ami Shanchori, an agricultural attache in the Israeli embassy in London was killed by one of the bombs Tuesday.

Police reported some of the letter- bombs contained leaflets of the Black September Palestinian guerrilla group, which claimed credit for killing 11 members of the Israeli Olympic squad in Munich Sept. 5.

Police in various cities said the bombs were all made from explosive strips that are thinner than a ball point pen.

Yigal Allon, Israel's deputy premier, said in Jerusalem a "systematic" new phase in the antiguerrilla struggle is now in effect. No Arab country, Allon added, "will enjoy immunity as far as our counterterrorist actions are concerned."

On the diplomatic front, Foreign Minister Abba Eban of Israel said upon leaving London for the United Nations in New York that, "It is incumbent upon all governments to take action against terrorists in coordination with the government of Israel."

U.N. secretary- general Kurt Waldheim was working Wednesday night to have the general assembly's steering committee ultimately put the terrorism issue on its agenda. But there has been opposition to the proposal from some members, who fear a ban on terrorism would hurt African liberation movements.

Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el Zayyat of Egypt arrived in Brussels for talks with his Belgian counterpart, Pierre Harmel. Zayyat said he hoped Belgium "would ... make a step forward toward the establishment of peace in the Middle East."

Mahmoud Riad, the Arab League secretary- general, said upon his return to Cairo from Beirut that, "The situation in Lebanon is very good and reassuring."

Riad spent two days in Lebanon in the wake of the Israel's raids into the southern part of the country last weekend against guerrilla bases.

"The Lebanese and Palestinian brothers are keen to preserve their unity of ranks by erasing reasons of tension," Riad was reported as saying.

Happiness Requires Positive State Of Mind

Benton Area Home Economist

There is within each of us a yearning to feel wanted, appreciated and loved. Psychologist Abraham Maslow labels these our love and self-esteem needs.

All of us, if we take time to analyze ourselves, have certain things in our physical, mental and spiritual make-up that are good and can contribute to happiness of self and others.

No two people are alike in looks or personality, but all too many of us want to be like somebody else. If we are short, we want to be taller, of we are heavy we want to be thinner, if we are a redhead we want to be a brunette. However, sooner or later we realize we must make the best of what we have. We can spend our lifetime wishing for what we haven't got or use what we have to great advantage.

It is by positive or negative thinking that we find the real secret of charm, happiness, success and peace of mind, or unhappiness, failure and frustration.

A positive person is helpful and encouraging, looks forward to each new day, is on time, enjoys life and living, likes doing all kinds of things, accepts reality and faces difficulties with an awareness that there's always an answer. A positive person is in tune with the universe radiating a warmth that is like the sun. It makes you feel good to be near such a person.

A negative person is usually finding fault, has a "don't bother me" attitude, rather than, "let me help you" attitude, has a tendency to dread each new day of opportunity, finds life boring is usually late, and does only what she or he has to do. A negative person is therefore out of tune with the universe. When you are near such a person the atmoshpere seems cold and uninviting.

Life is not a game of chance as so many think. It is all a matter of right or wrong attitudes. We need to take a good look at ourselves - see how much of our inside is showing on the outside, because others will be seeing it all day long.

Ann Landers

Further Adjustments Needed After Accident

Dear Ann Landers: Four years ago when I was 15 I lost my leg in an accident. I was a champion ice skater and loved to dance. Knowing I would never again excel in these areas was a real blow. In a few months, with the help of a good counselor I managed to accept my limitations. But this is not what I'm writing about. What drives me crazy is that when I decide not to wear my artificial limb (it gets uncomfortable after a while) people stare, or gasp, or turn their heads away, as if the sight of the stump makes them sick.

I've made MY adjustment. What can't people who are fortunate enough to have both legs make theirs? Why must they make me feel like some sort of repulsive freak? Sometimes I want to scream, "This is the way I am! If I can stand it, so can you!" Please print my letter, Ann. It might help make life easier for those of us who are abbreviated, but whole. ---The Gimp

Dear Friend: There will always be insensitive clods in the world, but you seem to have an uncontrollable desire to punish them --perhaps because you have suffered so much.

I hope you will resume your counseling and get rid of your anger. Your "adjustment" isn't complete.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from "It's What's Up Front That Counts' and I must respond. "Front" complained about the tasteless digs she got while working during her pregnancy.

I, too, worked through my pregnancy --and I was beg as a house --absolutely enormous. It was comical to watch people's faces when they saw me. They tried not to stare but they just couldn't help it. I was beyond belief. I'd finally make the observer comfortable by saying, "Biggest since the Graf Zeppelin --isn't it?" This never failed to crack them up and from then on everyone was relaxed.

Whenever I stepped into an elevator I'd take bets as to whether or not we'd make it. I figured it was better to come right out and say what they were thinking.

Those Women's Libbers are crazy, Ann. I wouldn't trade places with any man. This is the ONE thing we can do that they can't. Sign me ---Just Plain Happy

Dear Hap: I won't debate the merits of Women's Lib, but how many men do you know who envy a woman the ability to get pregnant? You say it's the one thing a woman can do that a man can't. I agree, but it's also the one thing most men are darned happy can't happen to THEM. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: It's obvious you are no bridge player. You told the woman who wrote about fighting with her husband over the card table to "throw in the deck" --permanently. That advice stank.

Throwing in the deck is an admission of defeat. No one ever became a good bridge player by giving up. Better advice would have been to keep the rule book at the table. (Choose your own expert.) When an argument starts about who should have done what, look it up and settle the bloomin' thing then and there. Of course it slows up the game, but everyone will learn from it. Even a dumbell like you. ---Miami

Dear M: Not me. I'm no card player. As for YOUR suggestion --it sounds like a sure way to hatch another argument. If Goren says one thing and Becker says another, you've got another hassle on your hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Matthews

Matthews-Myers

Wedding vows were exchanged between Miss Carolyn L. Myers and Charles H. Matthews Sept. 2 at 4 p.m. in Wesley United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.U. Myers, 911 Allen Blvd., and the groom is the son of Floyd Matthews of New Madrid and Mrs. Mabel Matthews of Sikeston.

Arrangements of white carnations and tapers in branched candelabra decorated the sanctuary where the Rev. James H. Holt performed the double -ring ceremony.

Mrs. Medford Livingston, organist, accompanied Mrs. Hershel Cate, soloist, as she sang, "A Time for Us" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of sheer -ganza accented with ribbon -embroidered sheer trimming. Two rows of Venice lace daisies encircled the high neckline. A band of embroidered sheer trim interlaced with white satin ribbon highlighted the bishop sleeves which ended with lace cuffs.

A wide panel of sheer trim with ribbon highlighted the bodice front and the center of the A —Line skirt. The attached chapel -length train was adorned with a matching panel of trim.

For her hair, she chose a lace tiara, lavishly embroidered with pearls. Attached was a three -tiered veil of English illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and tube roses with white streamers tied in lovers' knots.

Mrs. Donald Marshall, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a floor -length dress of mint green trimmed with lace and carried a bouquet of gold daisies.

Donald Wayne Marshall II, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and Kristie Lynn Marshall, neice of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a mint -green dress and carried a basket of gold daisies.

Reggie Stotts was best man. Ushers were Tevis Noles and Allen Grimes.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Myers chose a beige, double knit dress with gold accessories and a corsage of gold daisies. The groom's mother wore a pink dress with bone white accessories and a corsage of gold carnations.

The bride and groom and members of the wedding party received guests at a reception held in the church immediately following the ceremony. White net and mint -green candles were used on the bride's table. A three -tiered wedding cake flanked by crystal candelabra centered the table and crystal Punch bowls were placed at either end. Sue Wood served.

Following the reception, a dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marshall at their home on Matthews Route Three for members of the wedding party and relatives. Out -of -town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W.U. Myers, Jr. of Dallas, Tes., and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Matthews Jr. of Biloxi, Miss.

Following a wedding trip to St. Louis, the couple is living at 818 Linn St. in Sikeston.

The bride was honored Aug. 15 with a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Fred Lawrence. Hostesses were Mary Lou Lawrence, Pat Freeman and Dixie Satterfield.

Presidents Car Looses In Battle With Cyclists

WASHINGTON (AP) -- President Nixon's new five-ton armor-plated limousine has come out second best in a collision with a 10-speed bicycle. But the bike rider got a ticket.

President Nixon was not in his car at the time.

After the collision Wednesday, bicycle owner Orville Jackson, 32, of Washington reported no damage, while police said Nixon's Lincoln Continental limousine was damaged on the left rear fender and doors.

Police put total damage at over $100. Cost of the car has been estimated at $500,000.

Jackson, a student at Washington Technical Institute, was shaken up and examined at a hospital, but apparently was not seriously hurt.

The mishap occurred as both car and bicycle were turning into a service station. Police later went to the hospital to give Jackson a ticket for failure to keep in is proper lane of traffic, but Jackson says he's going to fight it in court.

Jackson said he was stunned by the impact.

'King' Meets Australian Officials

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Donning shoes and leaving his Malay chieftain's dagger at home, the Scottish "King of the Cocos" is meeting with a representative of the Australian government.

They are discussing the future of the 27 Indian Ocean islands Queen Victoria gave an ancestor of the uncrowned king, 43- year- old John Clunies- Ross.

Clunies- Ross wants no interference in the sovereignty of the tiny isles totaling only 5½ square miles in area. He wants Australia to look after their defense and foreign relations and leave the rest to him.

But there has been criticism in Australia of a white man ruling a Malay population, and the Labor opposition is nagging the government to take overthe local government.

"Sovereignty of the islands belongs on the islands to the people of the islands, of which I am one," Clunies- Ross told newsmen after his first meeting Thursday with Andrew Peacock, Australia's minister of external territories.

"To the extent that I govern at all, I do so by consent. I have no police, no army, no way of enforcing my views other than expressing them to the people at large. I have absolute consultation with the islanders. In matters of importance, we are all men together."

Clunies- Ross usually goes barefoot and carries a dagger in his belt. He is the fifth generation of his family to run the islands, and during the school year his wife and five children live in Britain.

His Scottish ancestors settled the previously uninhabited islands in 1827 and brought in Malays to work the coconut trees. Queen Victoria granted the islands to the family in perpetuity in 1886. Britain transferred authority for them to Australia in 1955.

Outsiders rarely are admitted to the islands. There is a population of 483 Malays, kept fairly constant by free distribution of contraceptive pills. Clunies- Ross also has a small staff of white employes, and Australia has an airstrip and communications center on one of the islands.

Peacock said before his trip that there would be a "fundamental reappraisal" of the status of the islands by the government.

Final Voyage For Battleship Replica Set

JEFFERSON CITY — While the giant Battleship U.S.S. Missouri lies in mothballs in Bremerton, Wash., a replica of the famous warrior, now a possession of the Missouri State Museum, will make its final voyage in the Jefferson City Memorial Park pool at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 3.

The large, all metal model over seven feet long was made by Mr. William R. Reiner of Fergus Falls, Minn. It is powered by a six- volt battery, is radio controlled, and travels at a speed of two knots (2.3 miles per hour).

Reiner built the model in his spare time over a four-year period, and has been highly commended by top naval officers over the painstaking detail of the ship. After demonstrating it in several states, he donated it to the state museum.

The public and news media are invited to witness the last voyage of the replica as she churns through the waters of the pool under radio control. Following her last voyage, the ship will be placed in a permanent glass display case which is located in the west wing of the museum on the ground floor of the Capitol, along with ther memorabilia of the famous battleship.

Gerald Massie, assistant director of the Missouri Division of Commerce and acting director of the museum, said, "We were certainly delighted with the gift from Reiner. The display of this model of the famous battleship, on which the Japanese surrender was signed, Sept. 2, 1945, joins many other displays that make our museum one of the state's outstanding attractions, and also nationally known."

IMPROVE WORKING CONDITIONS

LONDON (AP) — "The Director," journal of the Institute of Directors, says that unnecessary status divisions between office and factory workers must be broken down.

It says it is time the "landscaped office" with plants, acoustic screens, air-conditioning and subtle lighting and color was brought to the work bench.

Acupuncture OK In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Acupuncture, the ancient Chinese art of needle medicine, can be administered in Missouri by licensed doctors, the executive secretary of the state Board of Healing Arts said today.

The board expressed its policy a month ago on an inquiry from a doctor in Kansas City, said the executive director, John A. Hailey. But the action was not made public.

The board said it considered acupuncture a practice of medicine and any doctor with a license to practice medicine in Missouri can perform it.

But Chiropractors can't perform acupuncture legally in the state because chiropraction isn't considered medicine, Hailey said.

Last month the Kansas Board of Healing Arts prohibited acupuncture in Kansas.

The New York Department of Education recently closed an acupuncture clinic operated without a medical license in New York city, Hailey said.

A 15-member governing council of the 4,300-member Missouri Medical Association adopted a resolution Sunday at its Rolla meeting, asking that the state Board of Healing Arts issue a formal notice to all doctors that acupuncture is legal.

Allowing use of acupuncture would allow more study of it, the medical association resolution said.

Urges Ban On Little Cigar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cigarette- size cigars should be banned from commercial advertisement on television, says Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, who sponsored legislation banning cigarette commercials from TV.

Moss, here Monday to address the American Mining Congress, said ads for the small cigars were "an attempt to thwart the ban on cigarette advertisements.

He said he would propose the ban be enacted "early in 1973."

TEXAS THIRD IN HOTELS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas has 63,421 motor hotel units, third to California and Florida, according to a report relayed by the Texas Tourist Council.

The council said the figure was compiled by Helmsley-Spear, Inc., which defines motor hotel as "one built or completely modernized since 1945, and containing over 50 rooms."

Spain Renews Challenge

JEFFERSON CITY — James E. Spain of Bloomfield, Democratic candidate for attorney general, today renewed his challenge to Republican incumbent Atty. Gen. John Danforth to publicly debate the issues.

Spain said he had written a letter to his opponent several weeks ago urging him to select a time and place for a debate. "Although several ready- made opportunities for a debate have been offered, the incumbent has carefully avoided a direct confrontation on the issues."

Spain said he believed the people of Missouri would be best served by a public airing of the differences between the candidates rather than flooding the television and radio with musical jingles and political advertisements calculated to put the candidate in the most favorable light.

"By his apparent refusal to risk public debate on the issues, we must assume the incumbent intends to rely on television and radio commercials and full page newspaper advertisements to promote his candidacy rather than meet me on the issues."

"My proposal still stands," Spain said. "I am willing to meet the incumbent at a forum of his choice to openly discuss the differences between us because I believe it would help the voters make a better informed choice in November.

"If his record is as good as he says it is" Spain said, "he should not be afraid to defend it publicly."

Spain went on to say that whether or not his opponent agreed to debate, he would continue his own efforts to inform Missourians by walking the streets of towns and cities of the state and by speaking to groups of interested citizens, telling them what he hoped to make of the office of attorney general and listening to what they think their attorney general should be.

Sept. 19, 1972

Editor
Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Mo.

Dear Sir:

In these days when people are so quick to criticize our law enforcement officers, my husband and I would like to take the opportunity to assert our feelings towards these public servatns. We wish to praise these men for the job we feel they are doing for the people of Sikeston.

On Monday morning, Sept. 18 at about 3 a.m. I was jolted awake by the harsh ringing of the telephone. I answered, and a male voice asked "Is Mr. Vaughan there please?" My senses dulled by sleep, I stupidly replied "Yes, but he is in bed asleep." Politely but firmly, the male voice insisted that his business was important, and that he would like to speak to Mr. Vaughan. By this time I was more fully awake, so I called my husband to the phone. I heard him say in a shocked tone, "Oh, my God! I'll be right there." I knew something was wrong. It seems that one of our local policemen had been checking our place of business, quite routinely, and had discovered a fire in the pit area. He quickly called the fire department, and then called my husband. By the time he went from our house on Shady Lane, to the Bar-B-Q and Fish Market, the fire had been extinguished with very little damage. Had this policeman not been doing such a good job, the fire could have gone undetected, and the whole place could have burned.

I recall another incident about 2½ years ago. We had just traded cars, and that night we had to go out to the market to check up on something. We had only been there for just a few minutes, when a police car wheeled into the front drive, and the policeman, upon seeing who we were said "Oh, Mr. Vaughan. I saw that strange car and didn't recognize it, so thought I'd better check."

It is such a good feeling to know that while we are getting a good night's sleep, our local law enforcement officers are exerting every effort to see that our business is being protected.

We would appreciate your printing this letter so that these fine men will know that their efforts are appreciated.

Yours very truly,
Mr. & Mrs. Richard Vaughan

City officials said today that motorists are not observing laws and safety precautions at school crossings.

Officials say the city ordinance calls for drivers to come to a stop at any time of day at a school crossing, even if no stop sign is in sight. Motorists have not been stopping, they say.

Weaver Does Some Figuring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earl Weaver, bless his optimistic soul, has finally figured out the American League East pennant scramble. All he needs to win it is a little help from his friends.

After his Baltimore Orioles absorbed a vital 9-1 and 4-0 doubleheader sweep at the hands of front-running Boston to tumble 2½ games off the Red Sox' pace Wednesday night, Weaver studied his handy, dandy baseball schedule and discovered that Boston spends the next four days playing second-place Detroit.

Then the Baltimore boss offered his analysis.

"I'll be rooting for my good friend Billy Martin Thursday and Saturday," revealed Weaver. "And I'll be rooting for my good friend Eddie Kasko Friday and Sunday. If my good friends win, we'll get Boston three in a row and we'll be all even with three games to go."

Simple, huh.

Managers Martin of the Tigers and Kasko of the Red Sox are in infinitely better shape than Weaver today. Detroit trimmed Cleveland 4-1 Wednesday night and is second, one game behind the Sox with 12 to play compared to Boston's 13.

That's an awful lot better than Weaver's Orioles, now third, 2½ behind with only nine to play. Fourth place New York, rained out at Milwaukee, is 3½ behind with 12 games remaining.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday night, Oakland reduced its magic number in the West to seven by whipping Chicago 6-3, Minnesota topped Texas 3-1 and Kansas City defeated California 9-2.

In the National League, Pittsburgh's magic number for clinching the East remained at one as the Pirates lost 4-1 to New York and second place Chicago defeated Montreal 6-2. Cincinnati reduced its clinching number to two, beating San Francisco 8-6 while runnerup Houston was losing to Atlanta, 13-6. In other games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1 and Los Angeles topped San Diego 5-3.

Baltimore's slumbering bats ran into two hot pitchers in Boston and Marty Pattin and Luis Tiant simply proved to be too much for the Orioles.

Pattin surrendered five hits in the opener and had an easy time of it when Boston exploded for seven runs in the fourth inning. Carlton Fisk drove in three runs and Rico Petrocelli and Dwight Evans two apiece for the Red Sox.

The victory ran Pattin's record to 15-12 after a horrendous 2-9 start. He is 13-3 since June 12.

Tiant has been even hotter. The veteran right-hander with the herky-jerky motion, improved his record to 13-5 with a four-hitter in the nightcap. He has won nine of his last 10 games and six of his last seven victories have been shutouts.

Evans contributed a triple and homer to the second game victory.

Woody Fryman fired a sixhitter and drove in a pair of runs with a clutch single after Duke Sims, another NL refugee, had snapped a ninth inning tie with a double.

The victory gave Fryman an 8-2 record with the Tigers since coming over from Philadelphia in early August. Since his arrival, Fryman alone has won more games for the Tigers than Mickey Lolich, Tom Timmerman and Joe Coleman have won combined.

The Yankees were trailing 2-0 against Milwaukee before the rain washed out the deficit and the game. It will be replayed tonight.

After their five-hour, 15-inning marathon the night before, Oakland and Chicago played a relatively routine encore with the A's winning 6-3, restoring their West Division edge to five games over the slipping Sox.

Ken Holtzman won his 18th game—a career high—for Oakland while Wilbur Wood, 24-15, took the loss. Home runs by Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando in the second inning posted the A's towards the victory.

John Mayberry crashed a first-inning grand slam homer and pitcher Steve Busby drove in three runs with a double and two singles as Kansas City trimmed California. Busby limited the Angels to six hits and had what appeared to be a grand slam homer nullified in the first inning when Umpire John Rice ruled that time had been called before he swung the bat.

Minnesota rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, two of them on a bases-loaded single by Bob Darwin to overtake Texas. The Rangers, limited to only two hits in eight innings against Jim Perry, led 10 until the late Twins' comeback.

Seaver Delays Clincher

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Question 1: Did Tom Seaver have a good fastball?

Question 2: Did the Pittsburgh Pirates clinch the National League East pennant?

If you know the answer to No. 1 is "yes," you can rest assured the answer to No. 2 is "no."

Seaver had his fastbail and his hard slider and his curve Wednesday night and the result was the New York Mets temporarily beached the Pirates' flag-clinching party by beating them 4-1.

The Pirates need just one victory or a loss by the secondplace Chicago Cubs, but the victory isn't coming easily.

Pittsburgh took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Vic Davalillo's triple and Rennie Stennett's single but Seaver bore down.

The Mets scored three runs in the third, two of them on Duffy Dyer's triple. Jim Beauchamp added a run with a sacrifice fly. The fourth New York run was driven in by Jim Fregosi's single in the fourth.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 8-6, Atlanta thumped Houston 13-6, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1, Chicago downed Montreal 6-2 and Los Angeles clipped San Diego 5-3.

In the American League Boston beat Baltimore 9-1-and 4-0, and it was Detroit 4, Cleveland 1; Minnesota 3, Texas 1; Oakland 6, Chicago 3; and Kansas City 9, California 2.

Cincinnati is another team with champagne on ice; the Reds' magic number is two. Pete Rose capped a four-run rally in the eighth with a tworun triple. Johnny Bench had hit his 36th homer to give the NL West-leading Reds a 1-0 lead and Bobby Tolan added two more with his eighth homer.

Atlanta scored all 13 runs in the second inning. Felix Millan drove in five with a triple and single and Dusty Baker hit a three-run homer. The Braves sent 19 batters to the plate against four Astro pitchers. Houston's Cesar Cedeno hit a two-run homer and Doug Rader hit a three-run shot.

Steve Carlton outpitched the man he was traded for and won his 25th for Philadelphia. Rick Wise of St. Louis was touched for a run in the first and another in the sixth. Tommy Hutton drove in the first Phils' run and scored the second.

Milt Pappas won his 200th career victory when the Cubs beat Montreal. He was backed by Glenn Beckert's two-run single and solo homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo. Mike Jorgensen and Ron Fairly hit homers for the Expos.

Manny Mota's two-run pinch single in the eighth broke a tie for a Los Angeles victory.

Carlton Rules Roost

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lefthander Steve Carlton celebrated a happy 25th Wednesday night as his former manager, Red Schoendienst, hit a sour note on his 25th.

Carlton, the gangling pitcher the Cards dealt away to the Philadelphia Phils in the spring, notched his 25th victory in stopping the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 on six hits.

Meanwhile, it was a frustrating 25th wedding anniversary for Schoendienst, who watched his team absorb its fourth loss of the season at Carlton's hand.

Carlton's victory achieved a target his wife Beverly has had posted on mirrors with lipstick in their home the past two seasons. Last season, after a fast start, the 27-year-old pitcher settled for 20.

"For a while I was thinking 30 wins," he said, "but I'll settle for this."

The Cards, who scored only two runs off Carlton in the four games they lost to him, kept the pace against their former teammate for only five innings.

Tommy Hutton led off the sixth with a double off ex-Phils right-hander Rick Wise (15-16) and moved to third on Willie Montanez' bouncer to the mound.

Hutton remained at third as Greg Luzinski delivered an infield hit but scored as rookie Bill Robinson grounded out to second base in breaking a 1-1 tie.

Denny Doyle had scored Philadelphia's first run in the opening inning by doubling, moving over on a sacrifice bunt by Larry Bowa and riding home on a Hutton single.

But St. Louis drew even in the bottom of the same frame on a hopper past Bowa for a double, a stolen base and Ted Sizemore's single.

Carlton threw only 115 pitches and had a low strikeout total of three in steaming heat. "Whether I'd finish became a question mark," conceded the 6-foot-5 ex-Redbird, who lost 10 pounds during the game.

"This is a big thrill," he conceded, "but nothing can match the 15 wins in a row I had earlier in the season."

Big Red Tackle Skins Sunday

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- One upset victory already behind them, the St. Louis Football Cardinals set their sights on a second Sunday when they battle a rugged NFC Eastern Division opponent -- the Washington Redskins -- in a pivotal early-season meeting at RFK Stadium.

Kickoff for the Big Red's second straight road outing is set for noon (CDT).

The Big Red opened the regular season in impressive fashion last week, stopping the Baltimore Colts, 10-3, in Baltimore. The Cardinal defense, although allowing 364 total yards, repeatedly stopped Colt drives and permitted only a field goal. The Redskins beat the Minnesota Vikings in a Monday night game in their opener.

Offensively, the Cardinals were stymied most of the game by the Colts' defense, but came up with several game- winning plays. One was a 71- yard pass from Tim Van Galder to Jackie Smith that set up a four- yard touchdown run by Donny Anderson on a crucial third-down situation. Van Galder, starting his first game at quarterback after three years on the St. Louis taxi squad, finished with 10 completions in 15 passes for 110 yards.

"The victory was an important one to us, particularly with the tough schedule we have ahead of us," Coach Bob Hollway said. "We made the most of our opportunities against one of the toughest defenses in the NFL. However, we know we must become more productive offensively and control the ball more."

Leading the defensive effort against the Colts was tackle Bob Rowe, who blocked three Baltimore field goals and added four unassisted tackles. In addition, the Big Red intercepted two John Unitas passes -- one by linebacker Mike McGill, which set up Jim Bakken's 41-yard field goal, and the other by Larry Wilson, which ended a Colts scoring threat on the Big Red two- yard line.

The Redskins, who whipped the Colts 33-3

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Cardiovascular specialists at the Arizona Heart Institute report that every 24 hours the human heart contracts and relaxes 100,000 times — moving 4,300 gallons of blood through 60,000 miles of arteries, veins and capillaries in the human body.

during the pre- season, gained the NFL playoffs last year in George Allen's first season as head coach. Last year, Washington finished with a 9-4-1 regular season record and posted three victories over the Cardinals -- a 20-13 decision in the pre- season and 24-17 and 20-0 wins during the regular season.

"Washington will be another rugged test for us," Hollway said. "For the Cardinals to have a good season, we must beat the teams in our division, and the Redskins definitely are one of those teams."

The Washington game will be a milestone for Big Red offensive tackle Ernie McMillan, who will be playing in his 148th consecutive game as a Cardinal, tying Bobby Joe Conrad's team record. In addition, Wilson set a new team mark last week by starting his 13th season with the Big Red. McMillan, who began his 12th year, is tied for second place in career service with Ken Gray.

Following the Washington battle, the Cardinals will move to St. Louis to open their home season against the improved Pittsburgh Steelers on Oct. 1.

Mingo To Observe National Hunting , Fishing Day

PUXICO — Mingo National Wildlife Refuge will hold an "open house" Saturday in observance of National Hunting and Fishing Day.

Proclamations issued by President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Warren E. Hearnes in observance of this day pay tribute to the nation's hunters and fishermen, who have contributed so much toward the conservation movement.

Areas such as Mingo and the state- operated Duck Creek Wildlife Management Area were acquired with funds from duck stamp and hunting license sales and taxes on sporting arms and ammunition.

The refuge auto tour will be open from noon until dusk and refuge personnel will be on hand to answer questions. The tour route will be the same one normally open on Sunday afternoons during October and November. Archaeological escavation being done on the Bluff road Indian mound will be of particular interest and Professor Scott Grantham, Southeast Missouri State University anthropologist, will be on hand during the open house to discuss this work with visitors.

Anti- hunting sentiment is currently running high in this country, Refuge Manager Jerry Clawson notes. Many people, including members of new environmental organizations, are unaware of sportsmen's contributions to conservation. Non- game species benefit greatly from the lands and waters made available by sportsmen dollars, and bird watchers, photographers and other people also benefit by having these lands available for this use.

Mingo refuge is administered by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Department of Interior.

grid quiz

by Dave Nelson, executive secretary, NCAA Football Rules Committee

The Ohio State quarterback on third down and 8 is forced to run out of his protecting pocket and scrambles back and forth across the field. His wide receiver, positioned eight yards outside the legal clipping zone at the snap, moves downfield but then returns toward the neutral zone and blocks a Missouri player below the waist. The block occurs in the legal clipping zone extended to the sidelines before the ball has advanced beyond the zone. The play gains four yards. The block was towards the ball at the snap.

The official should:

1. Declare fourth down and 4 yards to gain.

2. Penalize Ohio State 15 yards from the spot of the block below the waist.

3. Penalize Ohio State 15 yards from the spot of the snap.

Answer: Number 2. Penalize Ohio State 15 yards from the spot of the block below the waist.

Rule: (9-1-2-e) Offensive players positioned five or more yards outside the legal clipping zone or in motion toward the ball at the snap are prohibited from blocking below the waist toward the ball in the clipping zone extended to the sidelines.

If my Mother had any doubts about the heaviest part of her anatomy she found out for sure last Thursday when she slipped and fell walking up the bank of the lake and sat down on her ankle, breaking the small bone just above the joint. She is now sporting a cast up to her knee.

The Prayer from the Upper Room

Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the Lord his God. (Psalm 146:5)

PRAYER: Lord, help us to be concerned persons rather than complainers. May we spread the good news in our own place. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Hunter Has Conscience Problem

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The Alaska Fish and Game Department has received a cashier's check for $75 from an unidentified Seattle man who said his conscience was bothering him.

State spokesmen said Monday a check for that amount arrived late last week along with a hand- printed note.

The note read:

"While hunting in Alaska, I took game in a manner which was not completely legal. This has bothered me a great degree ... While it is impossible to go back and change the event, I do feel that I can make some correction by sending you an amount of money that I feel I would have paid out if it were done in a legal manner."

The note was not signed. The money was deposited in the state treasury.

Former New York Mets Ron Hunt, Tim Foli, Mike Jorgensen, Ken Singleton and Clyde Mashore are with the Montreal Expos.

What's The Law

The Case Of The Bopped Boob

By Jack Strauss LL. B.

Huey's face was buried in a newspaper as he started to cross a busy intersection. Only luck, however, prevented the rest of him from being buried. As he stepped off the curb he was struck by Mr. Ruppert's automobile and was bounced high into the air. Landing in a hospital, Huey sued Mr. Ruppert for his many aches and pains.

"He was driving without a license." Huey pointed out in court. "That makes him automatically liable for the accident and my banged -up condition.

"That's ridiculous" responded Ruppert. "Huey walked right in front of my car reading a newspaper. Not even Mandrake the Magician could have prevented the boob from being bopped. Consequently, the accident was solely his fault and my not having a driver's license does not make me responsible for his injuries."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the licenseless Mr. Ruppert liable for Huey's banged -up condition?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that driving without a license does not, in and of itself, make a person responsible for injuries arising out of an accident. To be held liable, noted the judge, it must be proved that the accident was his fault.

Ford Division's 1973 Cars

A new Ford car, with fresh front appearance, new sheet metal, and unique features including an optional anti-theft alarm system and a standard spare tire extractor for station wagons, highlights Ford Division offerings for 1973.

"With our bread-and-butter car all new, and with the market leadership we hope to continue with Pinto, Torino, Thunderbird and Mustang, we look forward to 1973 as another record-breaking year," said John Naughton, Ford vice president and Ford Division general manager.

The Division's 39 car models in six lines will make their debut at Ford dealerships Friday, September 22. Availability of all vehicles is subject to Federal emissions certification.

Ford Division continues to expand the availability of radial-ply steel-belted tires which are standard again on the Thunderbird in 1973 and now optional on all other car lines. These tires are offered with a 40,000-mile wear guarantee from the manufacturer.

The Ford car receives a new look, a more convenient instrument panel, and a variety of new features. Thunderbird offers a new optional opera window.

Torino, with two new luxury models, eliminates the high-back bench seat of 1972 and adds a new front grille. Mustang's front bumper now is molded urethane.

Maverick's interior is substantially upgraded. Pinto adds to changes started during the '72 model year both steering and braking refinements besides new paint and trim color selections.

New impact-absorbing bumper systems that meet Federal safety standards are on all 1973 Ford Division cars as are new exhaust emission control devices to help control oxides of nitrogen (NOX).

FORD

The Ford features a new grille, and new sheet metal which give the car a long, formal look. All four-door Fords have new "greenhouses" with increased headroom over similar 1972 models.

Other Ford standard equipment improvements include a new instrument panel which places the radio, heater/air conditioner and clock within easy sight and reach of both the driver and front passengers. The bin-type glove box is twice as large as in 1972. Improved window weather-stripping helps to provide an especially quiet ride. Windshield washers on the wiper arms provide precise amounts of window cleaner exactly where needed. All 1973 Fords also include power front disc brakes.

New options with Fords include a right outside rear-view mirror with its control near the steering column, handy to the driver. Power mini-vent windows are available with four-door models.

Other new options include a recreation table between the optional dual facing rear seats in station wagons, an AM/FM stereo radio with tape player option and an automatic parking brake release.

The anti-theft alarm system also is optional. When the system is armed, forced entry into the passenger or luggage compartments cause the car's horn to sound intermittently for five to seven minutes.

The 460-cubic-inch 4V eight-cylinder engine is an added option with Ford cars. Standard engine for 1973 is Ford's 351-2V, a V-8 accompanied by a standard automatic transmission.

THUNDERBIRD

The 1973 Thunderbird offers a new front appearance produced by a new grille, standup hood ornament and larger, impact-absorbing bumper. Front and rear headroom is increased.

Radial-ply steel-belted white sidewall tires are standard, as are a refined rear suspension, larger rear brakes, and bright bodyside protection molding with a black vinyl insert.

TORINO

An all-new car in 1972, the Ford Torino has a new front appearance in 1973. Low-back front bench seats are standard, and an electric rear window defroster is now optional for station wagons.

A new Torino series is added. It includes the Gran Torino Brougham two-door hardtop and four-door pillared hardtop. They replace the Brougham Interior Trim Group option of 1972.

MUSTANG

Ford Mustang's five models--still the widest choice in the small specialty segment--include Ford Division's only convertible for 1973. All Mustangs carry a new grille, and molded urethane front bumpers which match the body color.

Five new paint colors and two new trim colors are offered. New options include forged aluminum wheels and a two-tone hood with twist-type hood locks.

Other new options include a leather-wrapped steering wheel, a revised protection package and rear bumper guards.

Most changed Ford Division car for 1973 is the full-sized Ford. Shown here is the LTD four-door hardtop. All-new sheet metal below the window line and a new segmented grille give the 1973 Ford a more formal look. All 1973 Fords have a new impact-absorbing bumper system, although the overall length of the car is increased only about one inch. Power front disc brakes, power steering, SelectShift Cruise-O-Matic transmission and a 351-2V eight-cylinder engine are standard in all new Fords.

THE '73 FORDS ARE HERE.

At 60 mph a '73 Ford LTD rode quieter than an airborne glider.

On July 27, 1972, General Radio Co. tested a '73 LTD against an airborne glider. Both at 60 mph and with identical sound level meters. The result: the Ford was quieter. But the new LTD is more than just quiet. It is well made from its power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic transmission, standard equipment, to its luxurious, comfortable, roomy interior. There are 16 new Ford models to choose from and each will convince you that quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

Chances are you won't try to balance yourself on top of your new Torino. But, when you're riding inside, you'll still appreciate Torino's refined suspension—because it helps to cushion bumps, absorb road vibrations and reduce body sway. You feel solidly in control while you ride in comfort and luxury.

'73 Pinto: When you get back to basics, you get back to Ford.

Ford, the company that built the first basic, solid, reliable car seventy years ago—has built today's basic, solid reliable car: Pinto. It's become America's top selling economy car for more reasons than economy. Here are some of those reasons: A 1600 cc. engine developed and perfected in over 10 years of actual driving. Rack-and-pinion steering. Solid welded body, electrocoated to fight corrosion. 4-speed transmission—lubed for life. Everything we've learned in seventy years of car making—all the basics—we build into every Pinto Wagon, Runabout and Sedan. When you get back to basics, you get back to Pinto.

There are 39 new models to choose from.

And every 1973 Ford, Thunderbird, Torino, Mustang, Maverick and Pinto—comes equipped with new energy-absorbing bumpers and steel guard rails in all side doors. Steel-belted radial ply tires and AM/FM stereo radios are options on all models. Test-drive these new Fords at your Ford Dealer's now.

Senate Slices Money Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Senate has sliced a $21.5 million House appropriations bill in half and tossed it back to the House for consideration this afternoon.

The House could accept the changes or reject them and send the bill to a conference committee to work out the differences.

The senate, meanwhile, met today to confirm dozens of appointments by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to boards and agencies.

Only one money amendment out of a half dozen attempts was successful Wednesday and the Senate approved, 31-2, a $10.8 million measure. The no votes were cast by Sens. Raymond Howard, D-St. Louis, and Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro.

Hearnes asked for $23.5 million when he called the special session Sept. 6. The state now has $23 million in available money in the general fund.

The only money item added by the Senate was $369,000 to give five per cent pay raises to more than $6,000 non academic employes at the University of Missouri. The University had offered increases of four per cent.

Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, made the motion after he failed by two votes in getting an amendment for $558,000, which would have provided 5.5 per cent pay increases. His second motion passed, 18-11. Vanlandingham said that the non academic employes had been neglected for years while teachers' salaries were increased.

A statement of legislative intent by Sen. John A. Johnson, D-Affton, also was approved.

Under the constitutional amendment for government reorganization, approved in the primary election, the legislature has the power to digtate how appropriations will be spent. The governor vetoed a similar statement of intent in last spring's money bills on the grounds it was an attempt to legislate in an appropriation bill.

Johnson's amendment would require all money appropriated in the emergency bill to be spent on a planned basis for the next nine months. No expenditure could exceed 15 per cent of the monthlyl average without specific approval of the legislative Fiscal Affairs Committee.

Howard, saying the Senate also should act on "human repairs," was unsuccessful, 18-15, in getting $1 million restored for scholarships up to $900 a year for needy college students. The governor had asked for $1.8 million and the House trimmed off $802,000.

The appropriations committee allowed $37,000 to gear up the program for the start of the 1973 school year. Sen. Donald Manford, D-Kansas City, the appropriations chairman, the agreement for delayed funding of the actual grants was the only way the scholarship bill was able to pass last spring.

Blackwell failed on a 16-16 vote to reinstate $1.2 million for junior colleges, saying the junior colleges had too long been treated as the "stepchild" of higher eduation.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, RCarthage, sponsored the bill to bring the state aid to junior colleges up to $400 0er student, but was out of the Senate chambers when Blackwell's amendment was voted upon.

Webster said later he would have voted against the amendment because of testimony showing that the junior colleges had $1.8 million in undistributed funds they were holding pending funding of the bill. The unspent funds will allow the per-student aid to be increased from $320 to $380, Webster said.

The $1.8 million would have been used to expand vocational education programs if the $1.2 million request had been allowed to stand. Manford said more money could be written into the junior college budget in the next General Assembly to fund the grants.

"I find it rather amusing when you have to direct someone to spend the money," Blackwell said, adding that he was told a different story about the junior college financial situation.

Increased state aid for junior colleges was recommended in a six-year study made public a month ago by the state Commission on Higher Education.

Blackwell and Sen. John D. Schneider, D-Florissant, got into a lively debate over Schenider's amendment to reinstate $40,000 for a St. Louis center for the developmentally disabled. The amendment was defeated.

No funds were to be appropriated, Blackwell said, until there was a commitment of $100,000 in federal money. Schneider contended that funds could be appropriated but not expended, under the wording of the bill, until the federal money was available.

"Once the money is appropriated," Blackwell retored, "I've never seen it come back."

There was little debate on the biggest single cut, $7 million for increasing nursing home payments. The increased payments are being made from federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare funds. The federal money runs out next March 31 and the appropriations committee felt the funds could be

Inspectors Score Local Jaycee Pool

The Jaycee swimming pool has come under criticism from the State Department of Health following a routine inspection of the pool on Aug. 29. None of the criticism are of a serious nature, however.

Rick Adams, president of the Jaycees, said today the organization is trying to find a solution to the problems.

Among the shortcomings listed were the lack of a rate of flow gauge on the recirculation system, improper location and venting of chlorination equipment, lack of chlorine gas masks, lack of soap and hot water at the showers, lack of posted safety regulations and a low acidity rate in the water.

Adams said the acidity rate is usually well within required levels, but that the investigators checked the pool the day before it closed for the season and the level had dropped with lack of pool use.

The report said the water should be recirculated at least three times daily for proper circulation and filtration. The rate of flow gauge is used for this purpose.

Chlorination equipment is in the same room with the treatment equipment. The report said if a chlorine leak developed it would present a hazard to maintenance personnel and could cause corrosive damage to the treatment equipment.

Adams said the filtration system is old and will probably be replaced if it is monetarily feasible.

HIS FORTE?

Senator George McGovern's proposed economic policies have been re-shuffled several times. That is almost understandable. McGovern is an historian taking economic advice from various areas. What is harder to understand is his failure to relate history to his plans.

In 1936, French socialist Leon Blum's Popular Front swept him into power. Blum had a wide following among youth and intellectuals, who zealously wanted to put their "Make the Rich Pay" and "Bread, Peace and Liberty" slogans into effect.

Blum vigorously attacked the 200 families who allegedly owned France. He claimed to be a friend of the working man. Today, after much government tinkering with the market place mechanism, French workers still are among the lowest paid in industrailized nations. Whatever Blum and the socialists gave them, it was eaten up by the inflation that accompanies over-centralized economies.

The "Bread, Peace and Liberty" shibboleth fared even worse. Cutting back military spending while Hitler's Germany was rearming at breakneck speed, the Popular Front left France in a weakened state. In 1940, Germany overran France in a few weeks. Over 25 million American, British, Russian and French lives were lost restoring "Bread, Peace and Liberty" to France.

McGovern's plans for large-scale tampering with the economy and reliance on the good will of nations who rarely show good will is a grave threat to America. It is a threat he should realize as an historian. But if he is ignorant in his own field, what can we expect from him in other matters?

AROUND THE WORLD
WITH THOMAS COOK

Thomas Cook, founding father of the travel-agency business, hit upon a wild idea 100 years ago. He decided to escort 10 British tourists around the world for 210 guineas each. That come to $580 a head at today's rate of exchange, and it was a bargain even then. Accordingly, the voyagers set out Sept. 20, 1872, on a journey that took them by clipper ship across the Atlantic, by rail across America, and then to Japan, China, Singapore, Ceylon and Suez before the final leg back to Pall Mall's clubland.

During the 25,000 -mile trip, Cook wrote letters to the London Times and Daily Mail describing his experiences. On. Nov. 6, 1872, he wrote that, in America, "The speed of trains is not equal to that of the English lines. The Pacific Express of the Union and Central Pacific lines ... only attains an average of about 19 miles per hour between New York and San Francisco, including short stoppages of 20 or 25 minutes three times a day for refreshments, and longer delays at the junctions of the lines. It takes about 170 hours to go 3,300 miles, and that includes seven nights in succession in the sleeping car."

Cook, who was accustomed to taking English gentlemen around the continental tour circuit, did not enjoy American sleepers. "The admixture of strangers and sexes is very repulsive to English travelers," he wrote. Furthermore, "There are no second-class cars, but the holders of second class tickets for the Pacific route are generally restricted to the use of cars appropriated to smokers."

Only the Erie line from New York to Buffalo met with Cook's approval. The group traveled through New York State in a "really pleasant drawing- room car, beautifully carpeted and furnished with elbow chairs, mounted on columns, and capable of being turned about in any direction." Although Thomas Cook & Sons is currently offering an abbreviated version of the 1872 tour, no amount of money can bring back the style and adventure of those early days of globe-trotting.

GOLD STAR
MOTHERS

An old photograph shows a group of women on a patriotic march, some carrying American flags and one in the foreground with a proud, hand-lettered banner proclaiming: "I was born in 1863 -- the spirit of war surrounded me – Now the spirit of war has come again – And I have a son with The Fighting Men!" Her son was a soldier of World War I, and if he was one of the 109,740 Americans to die in that war, she probably wore a gold star on her black arm band. The gilt star had become a symbol of the willing sacrifice of the war dead and their families. "The glory of death should be emphasized rather than its sadness," said a contemporary news article.

In 1928 a group of women who had lost children in the war banded together to form the American Gold Star Mothers, Inc. One year after the next global conflict broke out, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a proclamation (Sept. 14, 1940) designating the last Sunday in September as Gold Star Mothers Day. By the end of World War II, during which 292,131 Americans died in battle, the organization's membership had grown considerably.

Popular culture idealized World War II mothers, and assured them that their losses were not in vain. President Roosevelt's proclamation praised mothers as "the fountainhead of the State," and "the greatest source of the Country's strength and inspiration." On the lighter side, writer Philip Wylie observe, "I cannot think, offhand, of any civilization except ours in which an entire division of living men has been used, during wartime ... to spell out the word 'mom' on a drill field."

The Gold Star Mothers conduct their annual observance in Arlington National Cemetery -- this year on Sunday, Sept. 24. The majority of their 21,000 members lost children in the Second World War, but some joined after the Korean conflict and about 2,600 are "Vietnam mothers." Since 1961, 45,857 Americans have died fighting in Southeast Asia. For many of their mothers, the gold star has lost some of its glory.

UPOPIA, JAKE
WITH US ALL

Who says American voters never have a choice, only an echo? A fellow named Jacob J. Gordon of Worcester, Mass., has declared himself a candidate for president on the National Government ticket with a platform that makes those of every other party look like exercises in namby- pambyism.

Stating that "all Americans and the entire world realizes (sic) that present existing federal government of the United States is totally, completely and hopelessly corrupt from top to bottom," Gordon offers a platform which includes the following pledges:

(1) The complete removal of American troops from Vietnam within 72 hours. (2) Guaranteed $10,000 earned minimum annual income for all families and $500 minimum monthly pension for all elderly. (3) Replacement of all federal employes with new employes. (4) Bar all lawyers from serving as judges in any court. (5) Abolish the national debt. (6) Abolish all labor unions, which will no longer be necessary. (7) Eliminate crime, inflation and unemployment for all time and return morality and God to the United States for all time. (8) Reduce all taxes by a minimum of 75 per cent.

Incidentally, "the armed services will in no way be effected (sic) by the transition of government."

The platform will be adopted in convention assembled in New York City on Sept. 1. For those who can't attend, at the bottom of Gordon's campaign literature is a handy form for applying for a job in the new "National Government of the United States," with a space for the position applied for — "Congressmen, Judge, Clerk, other positions available."

"Three million government jobs are yours for the asking!" says Gordon.

ENGINE EFFICIENCY

A common motorist complaint is a knocking or "pinging" sound from the engine. American Oil lists several causes of knock your mechanic should investigate: 1) "Lean" fuel- air mixture caused by a poorly adjusted carburetor 2) Combusion chamber deposits which raise the temperature of the incoming mixture and increase the compression ratio. 3) You may be using a gasoline that has a lower octane number than that needed by your car's engine. But remember, a high octane number won't help your car start faster in cold weather ... nor will buying a higher octane number gasoline than your engine requires increase your car's performance.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a fisherman gets tired of hearing:

"That one's so little you'll surely throw it back, won't you?"

"I don't think you and your friends actually do any fishing at all. I think you just stay up late and play poker and drink."

"I think you'd be glad to have your wife come along. After all, when the fish aren't biting, you'd have me to talk to."

"If you catch anything, and I'll admit that's highly unlikely, don't bring it home and expect me to cook it. I don't want you getting scales all over the kitchen cleaning it, and I don't want to smell up the whole house with it when I put it on the stove."

"If you buy a new rod and reel, I'm going to buy a new dress and hat."

"You know this is the first time I've ever gone fishing with you, George, so don't get mad at the questions I ask. Just tell me one thing and I won't bother you anymore. Which end of the worm do you put on the hook?"

"The thing I hate about fishing is that it is so unfair. A fish is just a poor dumb little thing that lives with its head under water, while you, George, have had the benefits of a college education."

"It's silly of you to think that I am jealous of your fishing, George. And I don't think you are using it as an excuse to go out with another woman. No woman with any self-respect would be caught dead going out with you dressed in that costume."

"George, I can't help it if I was the one that caught the biggest fish of the day. I wasn't even trying. The silly thing just wouldn't stay off my hook, that's all. When we get back, I'll tell everybody that you were the one who caught it, not me. How will you quit being mad at me?"

"What do you need all that expensive gear for? All I use is an old pole, some string, a hook and some old slices of bacon rind, and I never come home with less than 10 pounds of fish."

"What I can't understand, George, is why you don't take up some useful hobby while you're fishing, say crocheting or needlepoint."

NO FAULT INSURANCE
DEAD FOR THIS SESSION

"No fault" insurance seems to be dead for this session of Congress, chiefly because of objections of the national attorney's organization.

It will probably be revived and may be passed in the next session.

The law would largely eliminate the necessity of going into expensive court preceedings to determine who is at fault in an accident. It would require the insurance companies to pay the holder of an accident policy for damage done, regardless of who is at fault.

We can't particularly blame the attorneys for trying to protect their own interests, and it may also be that they are right and that such a law is unfair to those who are not at fault when an accident occurs. However, we'd like to see the plan tried and believe it would result in more speedy payments by the insurance companies, and therefore improved service to the policyholders.

ILLOGICAL REASONING

Profits, it has often been said, are the source of new opportunities, higher employment and needed expansion of productive enterprise. Somehow, however, the truth of this message has failed to reach enough people, and a lot of politicians still talk out of both sides of their mouths. In one breath, they damn profits and big business. In the next, they call for more government programs of onykind or another to create jobs -- at the expense of taxpayers. Their hypocrisy is nowhere more evident than in the electric industry.

Electric service is a necessity in every home, business and facotry. Consumers get far more for their money in electric service than anything else they have to buy. Still, it remains standard political strategy to condemn increases in electric rates as inflation pushes up the price of everything, including labor, that enters into the operation of an electric company. Disregarded is the necessity of an electric company to earn profits the same as any other enterprise if it is to provide jobs and expanded electric energy production. The electric industry is one of the most "capital intensive" in the nation. This means it takes more money to provide jobs and produce electric power than is required in most other businesses. For instance, in 1902, investment per employee in the power industry was $18,090. By 1955, this had risen to $90,224, and by 1969, an investment of $226,569 was required for each employee.

Capital investment on this scale is only possible in an industry that is paying its bills, earning a profit and offering a promise of steady growth and progress. Those who automatically oppose utility rate increases in the electric industry as they become necessary would cut the ground from under the foundation of investor confidence and private employment.

REBUKING THE UNITED NATIONS

Congress has finally taken some constructive steps regarding the United Nations. In the past the Senate and the House seemed willing to give the U.N. almost anything it asked for, but apparently this attitude is beginning to change.

The Senate has refused to go along with the U.N. -sponsored boycott of Rhodesia, voting down an attempt by Senator William Fulbright of Arkansas to repeal last year's law permitting the importation of chrome and other strategic materials from Rhodesia. After the voting, Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, the original sponsor of the law permitting the import of Rhodesian chrome, pointed out that the "roll call votes on this legislation in the Senate and in the House taken together constitute support from 46 of the 50 states. Clearly this is not a regional matter; it is a national matter."

The House of Representatives also rebuked the U.N. by voting a decrease in U.S. contributions to its budget. The State Department had favored an increase of $22 million, but the appropriations subcommittee in charge of the State Department budget cut back the U.S. share of U.N. funds from last year's 31 per cent to 25 per cent. The full House upheld the committee action by a vote of 202- 156. This is the first time that Congress has cut back U.S. funds to the U.N.

These actions clearly show how much Congress is becoming dissatisfied with the United Nations. It is a hopeful sign that so many of our representatives are beginning to have a truer picture of the U.N. and are no longer willing to give it their unqualified support. HLH

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Senator Edmund Muskie's Senate subcommittee was busily digging up dirt on his Democratic rivals during the presidential primaries.

Confidential memos from the files of Muskie's Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations are packed with derogatory information against Senators George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey and Governor George Wallace. All three battled Muskie for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The research on the candidates was done by staff members whose salaries were paid by the taxpayers.

One four -page memo rips into McGovern's inconsistencies on the Vietnam War.

"So far," declares the report, "George McGovern has gotten away with portraying himself as a man of conscience who was always endowed with the vision and courage to fight our military involvement in Vietnam."

The memo quotes McGovern's statement that "There has seldom been a day in the last eight years that my heart has not literally ached for that bloody conflict." Then the memo cites McGovern's early pro -war votes and statements as "some of the less publicized symptoms of George McGovern's heartache."

Another staff memo dated February 17, 1972 begins: "McGovern has made it appear that he was 'right' /on Vietnam and 'right' on the defense budget ever since he got out of diapers." Then it ticks off several "little known facts" from McGovern's pro -Vietnam record.

The memo adds: "The notion that Senator McGovern is the leading liberal in the Democratic party, compared to Senator Muskie, has little validity. In their ratings of senators, the liberal Americans for Democratic Action have assigned a higher career 'liberal quotient' for Senator Muskie than Senator McGovern"

—The "Real' Humphrey —

A staff memo on Hubert Humphrey, who ran with Muskie on the 1968 Democrat ticket, begins with the challenge: "Will the real Hubert Humphrey please stand up?"

The opener is blistering: "Hubert Humphrey has been running for office so long and so loud that his right mouth doesn't seem to know any more what his left mouth is saying. Here are some examples of the recent record of Hubert Humphrey, the flip -flop candidate."

There follow five pages of Humphrey's alleged inconsistencies.

But George Wallace receives the harshest treatment from Muskie's researchers. "When Wallace became governor," a staff memo asserts, "Alabama was ranked 47th among the states in per capita income. When the George and Lurleen stewardship ended, Alabama had dropped to 48th...

"While posing as a friend of the working man, Wallace was telling northern businessmen that they should come to Alabama because it was, as he described it, 'the Profit Opportunity State.'

"These days Wallace is warning the Democrats and Republicans: 'They had better give tax relief to the working man and put the burden on the shoulders of the filthy rich on Wall Street.'

"What he doesn't mention was that, during the Wallace regime, he rammed a law through the state legislature that provided that taxes on corporations could only be raised by constitutional amendment --literally an impossibility in the Wallace -dominated legislature...

—The Forefront —

"When Wallace was running for governor back in 1962, he promised to 'put Alabama in the forefront of the South and give the state a public school system equal to any in the U.S.A.' But after 10 years of talk, Alabama's schools are in worse shape today than they were when Wallace was elected."

Muskie told us that he was unaware that his subcommittee staff had produced "negative research" against opposing candidates. He suggested that individual staff members must have done the work voluntarily on their own time.

The subcommittee staff director, Alvin From, acknowledged to us that he had supervised "to some extent" the staff researchers who produced the memos for Muskie. While admitting some overlapping, he said most of the political work had been done voluntarily by staffers on their own time.

The "negative research," he said, had been done chiefly by Joe Albright who was a volunteer and drew only a nominal $108 -a -month subcommittee salary for three months.

Some of the memos, however, were signed by Tom Rauh and Al Friendly who drew full pay from the subcommittee. From emphasized that the subcommittee handled its full load of legitimate work throughout the campaign.

Kindly Parold Board
Says Ex -Teamsters'
Chief Can Still Fly
to Hanoi Any Time
He Wants

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON —I have it on the most excellent authority that the powerful Federal Board of Parole collectively does not believe that James Riddle Hoffa, Lewisburg Penitentiary's ex -No. 33298, convicted of attempting to defraud a Teamsters' pension fund of some $1 million, would do the U.S. any harm by jetting to Hanoi.

That authority is Maurice Sigler, new chairman of the Parole Board. Last Wednesday, Sept. 13, in view of the exposure of Jimmy Hoffa's personal representative William Leonard Taub, as slick a get -rich -quck artist as ever was invented, the Parold Board reviewed the Hoffa Case.

This review becomes especially significant in light of the sensitive, secretive conferences in Paris between national security adviser Henry Kissinger, who was duped by Taub, and the Hanoi politburo's powerful Le Duc Tho.

Chairman Sigler tells me that the parole board did not rescind permission for Hoffa to travel abroad for 30 days --though high White House officials are saying grimly, through clenched teeth, he'll never leave these shores while under parole.

"We made our decision on the theory that we made a reasonable and appropriate decision in the first place," said Sigler. "We are not going to change it. We will do nothing about it despite that other fellow. Hoffa is still permitted to go. It is our judgment after reading the newspapers that this man has done nothing to change our minds.

"We take this case on its own merit. It is our judgment that there is no danger in any way to our government or that he might do anything detrimental to our country."

That's odd. Especially since the Secret Service, the FBI and the Justice Dept., not to mention a network of other investigators, private and official, know that Taub had a rather Kafkaesque conversation with Le Duc Tho in Communist Sofia, Bulgaria, many months ago.

According to sources that should know, the following happened. Taub walked in on Le Duc Tho, Hanoi's top Paris peace negotiator, as a champion of a great cause --the rehabilitation of a martyr. Reportedly Taub said he had a martyr for Le Duc Tho –a man martyred by the imperialists because this martyr was the leader of the American working class, the leader of the world's biggest union, a man who had just been released from a capitalist prison where he had been placed by the imperialists.

The martyr, of course, was and is Jimmy Hoffa.

Taub said it would be a great touch if Hoffa were invited to Hanoi (where Hoffa wanted to go anyway and where he had already been invited through other channels).

Le Duc Thos thought well of the idea and approved. Taub then returned to Hoffa, told him he could expedite the Hanoi venture. Taub also had called the St. Louis -based Teamsters fourth vice president Harold Gibbons, and David Livingston, president of New York -based District 65 of the Distributive Workers (independent).

Gibbons conferred with Taub. Livingston, who had been in Hanoi with Gibbons last March, told Taub to stop bothering him.

Then began, with Hoffa's approval, Taub's bombardment of the White House, the Justice Dept., the State Dept., and Dr. Kissinger's national security section. Part of the Hoffa -Taub deal, of course, was the cleansing of Jimmy so he could return to his Detroit local union 299 and, with Gibbons, plan to unseat his successor, Teamster general president Frank Fitzsimmons.

During this time Hoffa had written to the Justice Dept., seeking permission to get into the Presidential campaign. The reply was negative –in a very firm fashion. Hoffa has that letter.

Why, then, if the Justice Dept., of which the parole board is a section, would not approve Hoffa's participation in American politics, would the board approve Hoffa's participation in international politics? Why would it permit him to fly to Paris and Hanoi on his own?

Jimmy Hoffa is no union leader. He isn't even an active member of the Teamsters since he withdrew his million -dollar pension.

He leads no movement. He heads no committee. He speaks for no one but himself.

Certainly it is his privilege to be free under parole. But why free to interfere in the sensitive matter of prisoners -of -war release? It is naive and, it seems to me, provincial of the parole board members to think that he can do this nation no harm by seeming to represent it in Hanoi.

There is a knowledgeable and sophisticated network of labor movements abroad. During my recent travels, French, Italian, German and British national labor leaders expressed satisfaction that Hoffa no longer was an American labor official and wondered what his freedom meant. Would he again take over the Teamsters? They know his record, his allies and his relations with underworld characters. America would be demeaned in their eyes if Jimmy Hoffa could bull his way into international diplomacy.

These foreign labor leaders often are powerful forces, officially and unofficially, in their governments. They would be shocked by the appearance of Hoffa on the world scene –seemingly sponsored or at least approved of by our government.

Just what does Sigler mean when he says this would not be "detrimental to our country"?

Busch, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Anheuser- Busch, Inc., said Wednesday he will continue to support the state and local Democratic tickets.

"This means that I will support the Democratic nominee for governor, Mr. Ed Dowd, and the entire state ticket," he said.

Busch, national vice chairman of Democrats for Nixon, said he believes Dowd's experience as an FBI agent, former St. Louis police board president and circuit attorney "will give the people of Missouri the kind of administration they need and want."

Letter Bombs Spreading Around Western Hemisphere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The plot to kill Israelis with booby-trapped mail parcels spread to Africa today after intensive police searches turned up bombs in North America and across Europe.

Israeli officials also reported they are getting tough with persons trying to inflict their own personal vengeance on Arab terrorists.

The Israeli foreign ministry said three of the envelopes containing the bombs were found today addressed to embassy officials in Kinshasa, the capital of Zaire, the former Belgium Congo.

They were discovered in the embassy's postal delivery box before any went off. A spokesman said the bombs were similar to those found earlier this week in Paris, London, Brussels, Geneva, Vienna, Tel Aviv, Montreal and New York. One of them killed a diplomat in London, but the others were found before they were detonated.

Meanwhile, Israeli police cracked down to prevent Jewish vengeance attacks in Europe. "We are not planning any illegal operations," one official said.

Israel's state radio reported that police were holding former Israeli underground fighter on suspicion of trying to ship arms to Europe for attacks on Arab terrorists or Arab interests.

The radio identified him as Amihai Paglin, once operations commander of the Irgun terrorist movement. The Irgun fought against the British army before Israel won independence.

Two days ago the militant Jewish Defense League announced that one of its members also was arrested for trying to smuggle weapons abroad for counter-terrorist operations following the Munich Olympic murders.

As the letter bomb scare mounted in Israel, police said 14 of the explosive-laden envelopes had been found in the country. Like all of the others, they were mailed from Amsterdam, officials said.

Ami Shanchori, an agricultural attache in the Israeli embassy in London was killed by one of the bombs Tuesday.

Police reported some of the letter- bombs contained leaflets of the Black September Palestinian guerrilla group, which claimed credit for killing 11 members of the Israeli Olympic squad in Munich Sept. 5.

Police in various cities said the bombs were all made from explosive strips that are thinner than a ball point pen.

Yigal Allon, Israel's deputy premier, said in Jerusalem a "systematic" new phase in the antiguerrilla struggle is now in effect. No Arab country, Allon added, "will enjoy immunity as far as our counterterrorist actions are concerned."

On the diplomatic front, Foreign Minister Abba Eban of Israel said upon leaving London for the United Nations in New York that, "It is incumbent upon all governments to take action against terrorists in coordination with the government of Israel."

U.N. secretary- general Kurt Waldheim was working Wednesday night to have the general assembly's steering committee ultimately put the terrorism issue on its agenda. But there has been opposition to the proposal from some members, who fear a ban on terrorism would hurt African liberation movements.

Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el Zayyat of Egypt arrived in Brussels for talks with his Belgian counterpart, Pierre Harmel. Zayyat said he hoped Belgium "would ... make a step forward toward the establishment of peace in the Middle East."

Mahmoud Riad, the Arab League secretary- general, said upon his return to Cairo from Beirut that, "The situation in Lebanon is very good and reassuring."

Riad spent two days in Lebanon in the wake of the Israel's raids into the southern part of the country last weekend against guerrilla bases.

"The Lebanese and Palestinian brothers are keen to preserve their unity of ranks by erasing reasons of tension," Riad was reported as saying.

Happiness Requires Positive State Of Mind

Benton Area Home Economist

There is within each of us a yearning to feel wanted, appreciated and loved. Psychologist Abraham Maslow labels these our love and self-esteem needs.

All of us, if we take time to analyze ourselves, have certain things in our physical, mental and spiritual make-up that are good and can contribute to happiness of self and others.

No two people are alike in looks or personality, but all too many of us want to be like somebody else. If we are short, we want to be taller, of we are heavy we want to be thinner, if we are a redhead we want to be a brunette. However, sooner or later we realize we must make the best of what we have. We can spend our lifetime wishing for what we haven't got or use what we have to great advantage.

It is by positive or negative thinking that we find the real secret of charm, happiness, success and peace of mind, or unhappiness, failure and frustration.

A positive person is helpful and encouraging, looks forward to each new day, is on time, enjoys life and living, likes doing all kinds of things, accepts reality and faces difficulties with an awareness that there's always an answer. A positive person is in tune with the universe radiating a warmth that is like the sun. It makes you feel good to be near such a person.

A negative person is usually finding fault, has a "don't bother me" attitude, rather than, "let me help you" attitude, has a tendency to dread each new day of opportunity, finds life boring is usually late, and does only what she or he has to do. A negative person is therefore out of tune with the universe. When you are near such a person the atmoshpere seems cold and uninviting.

Life is not a game of chance as so many think. It is all a matter of right or wrong attitudes. We need to take a good look at ourselves - see how much of our inside is showing on the outside, because others will be seeing it all day long.

Ann Landers

Further Adjustments Needed After Accident

Dear Ann Landers: Four years ago when I was 15 I lost my leg in an accident. I was a champion ice skater and loved to dance. Knowing I would never again excel in these areas was a real blow. In a few months, with the help of a good counselor I managed to accept my limitations. But this is not what I'm writing about. What drives me crazy is that when I decide not to wear my artificial limb (it gets uncomfortable after a while) people stare, or gasp, or turn their heads away, as if the sight of the stump makes them sick.

I've made MY adjustment. What can't people who are fortunate enough to have both legs make theirs? Why must they make me feel like some sort of repulsive freak? Sometimes I want to scream, "This is the way I am! If I can stand it, so can you!" Please print my letter, Ann. It might help make life easier for those of us who are abbreviated, but whole. ---The Gimp

Dear Friend: There will always be insensitive clods in the world, but you seem to have an uncontrollable desire to punish them --perhaps because you have suffered so much.

I hope you will resume your counseling and get rid of your anger. Your "adjustment" isn't complete.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from "It's What's Up Front That Counts' and I must respond. "Front" complained about the tasteless digs she got while working during her pregnancy.

I, too, worked through my pregnancy --and I was beg as a house --absolutely enormous. It was comical to watch people's faces when they saw me. They tried not to stare but they just couldn't help it. I was beyond belief. I'd finally make the observer comfortable by saying, "Biggest since the Graf Zeppelin --isn't it?" This never failed to crack them up and from then on everyone was relaxed.

Whenever I stepped into an elevator I'd take bets as to whether or not we'd make it. I figured it was better to come right out and say what they were thinking.

Those Women's Libbers are crazy, Ann. I wouldn't trade places with any man. This is the ONE thing we can do that they can't. Sign me ---Just Plain Happy

Dear Hap: I won't debate the merits of Women's Lib, but how many men do you know who envy a woman the ability to get pregnant? You say it's the one thing a woman can do that a man can't. I agree, but it's also the one thing most men are darned happy can't happen to THEM. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: It's obvious you are no bridge player. You told the woman who wrote about fighting with her husband over the card table to "throw in the deck" --permanently. That advice stank.

Throwing in the deck is an admission of defeat. No one ever became a good bridge player by giving up. Better advice would have been to keep the rule book at the table. (Choose your own expert.) When an argument starts about who should have done what, look it up and settle the bloomin' thing then and there. Of course it slows up the game, but everyone will learn from it. Even a dumbell like you. ---Miami

Dear M: Not me. I'm no card player. As for YOUR suggestion --it sounds like a sure way to hatch another argument. If Goren says one thing and Becker says another, you've got another hassle on your hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Matthews

Matthews-Myers

Wedding vows were exchanged between Miss Carolyn L. Myers and Charles H. Matthews Sept. 2 at 4 p.m. in Wesley United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.U. Myers, 911 Allen Blvd., and the groom is the son of Floyd Matthews of New Madrid and Mrs. Mabel Matthews of Sikeston.

Arrangements of white carnations and tapers in branched candelabra decorated the sanctuary where the Rev. James H. Holt performed the double -ring ceremony.

Mrs. Medford Livingston, organist, accompanied Mrs. Hershel Cate, soloist, as she sang, "A Time for Us" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of sheer -ganza accented with ribbon -embroidered sheer trimming. Two rows of Venice lace daisies encircled the high neckline. A band of embroidered sheer trim interlaced with white satin ribbon highlighted the bishop sleeves which ended with lace cuffs.

A wide panel of sheer trim with ribbon highlighted the bodice front and the center of the A —Line skirt. The attached chapel -length train was adorned with a matching panel of trim.

For her hair, she chose a lace tiara, lavishly embroidered with pearls. Attached was a three -tiered veil of English illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and tube roses with white streamers tied in lovers' knots.

Mrs. Donald Marshall, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a floor -length dress of mint green trimmed with lace and carried a bouquet of gold daisies.

Donald Wayne Marshall II, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and Kristie Lynn Marshall, neice of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a mint -green dress and carried a basket of gold daisies.

Reggie Stotts was best man. Ushers were Tevis Noles and Allen Grimes.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Myers chose a beige, double knit dress with gold accessories and a corsage of gold daisies. The groom's mother wore a pink dress with bone white accessories and a corsage of gold carnations.

The bride and groom and members of the wedding party received guests at a reception held in the church immediately following the ceremony. White net and mint -green candles were used on the bride's table. A three -tiered wedding cake flanked by crystal candelabra centered the table and crystal Punch bowls were placed at either end. Sue Wood served.

Following the reception, a dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marshall at their home on Matthews Route Three for members of the wedding party and relatives. Out -of -town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W.U. Myers, Jr. of Dallas, Tes., and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Matthews Jr. of Biloxi, Miss.

Following a wedding trip to St. Louis, the couple is living at 818 Linn St. in Sikeston.

The bride was honored Aug. 15 with a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Fred Lawrence. Hostesses were Mary Lou Lawrence, Pat Freeman and Dixie Satterfield.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's new five-ton armor-plated limousine has come out second best in a collision with a 10-speed bicycle. But the bike rider got a ticket.

President Nixon was not in his car at the time.

After the collision Wednesday, bicycle owner Orville Jackson, 32, of Washington reported no damage, while police said Nixon's Lincoln Continental limousine was damaged on the left rear fender and doors.

Police put total damage at over $100. Cost of the car has been estimated at $500,000.

'King' Meets Australian Officials

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Donning shoes and leaving his Malay chieftain's dagger at home, the Scottish "King of the Cocos" is meeting with a representative of the Australian government.

They are discussing the future of the 27 Indian Ocean islands Queen Victoria gave an ancestor of the uncrowned king, 43- year- old John Clunies- Ross.

Clunies- Ross wants no interference in the sovereignty of the tiny isles totaling only 5½ square miles in area. He wants Australia to look after their defense and foreign relations and leave the rest to him.

But there has been criticism in Australia of a white man ruling a Malay population, and the Labor opposition is nagging the government to take overthe local government.

"Sovereignty of the islands belongs on the islands to the people of the islands, of which I am one," Clunies- Ross told newsmen after his first meeting Thursday with Andrew Peacock, Australia's minister of external territories.

"To the extent that I govern at all, I do so by consent. I have no police, no army, no way of enforcing my views other than expressing them to the people at large. I have absolute consultation with the islanders. In matters of importance, we are all men together."

Clunies- Ross usually goes barefoot and carries a dagger in his belt. He is the fifth generation of his family to run the islands, and during the school year his wife and five children live in Britain.

His Scottish ancestors settled the previously uninhabited islands in 1827 and brought in Malays to work the coconut trees. Queen Victoria granted the islands to the family in perpetuity in 1886. Britain transferred authority for them to Australia in 1955.

Outsiders rarely are admitted to the islands. There is a population of 483 Malays, kept fairly constant by free distribution of contraceptive pills. Clunies- Ross also has a small staff of white employes, and Australia has an airstrip and communications center on one of the islands.

Peacock said before his trip that there would be a "fundamental reappraisal" of the status of the islands by the government.

Final Voyage For Battleship Replica Set

JEFFERSON CITY — While the giant Battleship U.S.S. Missouri lies in mothballs in Bremerton, Wash., a replica of the famous warrior, now a possession of the Missouri State Museum, will make its final voyage in the Jefferson City Memorial Park pool at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 3.

The large, all metal model over seven feet long was made by Mr. William R. Reiner of Fergus Falls, Minn. It is powered by a six- volt battery, is radio controlled, and travels at a speed of two knots (2.3 miles per hour).

Reiner built the model in his spare time over a four-year period, and has been highly commended by top naval officers over the painstaking detail of the ship. After demonstrating it in several states, he donated it to the state museum.

The public and news media are invited to witness the last voyage of the replica as she churns through the waters of the pool under radio control. Following her last voyage, the ship will be placed in a permanent glass display case which is located in the west wing of the museum on the ground floor of the Capitol, along with ther memorabilia of the famous battleship.

Gerald Massie, assistant director of the Missouri Division of Commerce and acting director of the museum, said, "We were certainly delighted with the gift from Reiner. The display of this model of the famous battleship, on which the Japanese surrender was signed, Sept. 2, 1945, joins many other displays that make our museum one of the state's outstanding attractions, and also nationally known."

IMPROVE WORKING CONDITIONS

LONDON (AP) — "The Director," journal of the Institute of Directors, says that unnecessary status divisions between office and factory workers must be broken down.

It says it is time the "landscaped office" with plants, acoustic screens, air-conditioning and subtle lighting and color was brought to the work bench.

Acupuncture OK In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Acupuncture, the ancient Chinese art of needle medicine, can be administered in Missouri by licensed doctors, the executive secretary of the state Board of Healing Arts said today.

The board expressed its policy a month ago on an inquiry from a doctor in Kansas City, said the executive director, John A. Hailey. But the action was not made public.

The board said it considered acupuncture a practice of medicine and any doctor with a license to practice medicine in Missouri can perform it.

But Chiropractors can't perform acupuncture legally in the state because chiropraction isn't considered medicine, Hailey said.

Last month the Kansas Board of Healing Arts prohibited acupuncture in Kansas.

The New York Department of Education recently closed an acupuncture clinic operated without a medical license in New York city, Hailey said.

A 15-member governing council of the 4,300-member Missouri Medical Association adopted a resolution Sunday at its Rolla meeting, asking that the state Board of Healing Arts issue a formal notice to all doctors that acupuncture is legal.

Allowing use of acupuncture would allow more study of it, the medical association resolution said.

Urges Ban On Little Cigar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cigarette- size cigars should be banned from commercial advertisement on television, says Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, who sponsored legislation banning cigarette commercials from TV.

Moss, here Monday to address the American Mining Congress, said ads for the small cigars were "an attempt to thwart the ban on cigarette advertisements.

He said he would propose the ban be enacted "early in 1973."

TEXAS THIRD IN HOTELS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas has 63,421 motor hotel units, third to California and Florida, according to a report relayed by the Texas Tourist Council.

The council said the figure was compiled by Helmsley-Spear, Inc., which defines motor hotel as "one built or completely modernized since 1945, and containing over 50 rooms."

Spain Renews Challenge

JEFFERSON CITY — James E. Spain of Bloomfield, Democratic candidate for attorney general, today renewed his challenge to Republican incumbent Atty. Gen. John Danforth to publicly debate the issues.

Spain said he had written a letter to his opponent several weeks ago urging him to select a time and place for a debate. "Although several ready- made opportunities for a debate have been offered, the incumbent has carefully avoided a direct confrontation on the issues."

Spain said he believed the people of Missouri would be best served by a public airing of the differences between the candidates rather than flooding the television and radio with musical jingles and political advertisements calculated to put the candidate in the most favorable light.

"By his apparent refusal to risk public debate on the issues, we must assume the incumbent intends to rely on television and radio commercials and full page newspaper advertisements to promote his candidacy rather than meet me on the issues."

"My proposal still stands," Spain said. "I am willing to meet the incumbent at a forum of his choice to openly discuss the differences between us because I believe it would help the voters make a better informed choice in November.

"If his record is as good as he says it is" Spain said, "he should not be afraid to defend it publicly."

Spain went on to say that whether or not his opponent agreed to debate, he would continue his own efforts to inform Missourians by walking the streets of towns and cities of the state and by speaking to groups of interested citizens, telling them what he hoped to make of the office of attorney general and listening to what they think their attorney general should be.

Editor
Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Mo.

Dear Sir:

In these days when people are so quick to criticize our law enforcement officers, my husband and I would like to take the opportunity to assert our feelings towards these public servatns. We wish to praise these men for the job we feel they are doing for the people of Sikeston.

On Monday morning, Sept. 18 at about 3 a.m. I was jolted awake by the harsh ringing of the telephone. I answered, and a male voice asked "Is Mr. Vaughan there please?" My senses dulled by sleep, I stupidly replied "Yes, but he is in bed asleep." Politely but firmly, the male voice insisted that his business was important, and that he would like to speak to Mr. Vaughan. By this time I was more fully awake, so I called my husband to the phone. I heard him say in a shocked tone, "Oh, my God! I'll be right there." I knew something was wrong. It seems that one of our local policemen had been checking our place of business, quite routinely, and had discovered a fire in the pit area. He quickly called the fire department, and then called my husband. By the time he went from our house on Shady Lane, to the Bar-B-Q and Fish Market, the fire had been extinguished with very little damage. Had this policeman not been doing such a good job, the fire could have gone undetected, and the whole place could have burned.

I recall another incident about 2½ years ago. We had just traded cars, and that night we had to go out to the market to check up on something. We had only been there for just a few minutes, when a police car wheeled into the front drive, and the policeman, upon seeing who we were said "Oh, Mr. Vaughan. I saw that strange car and didn't recognize it, so thought I'd better check."

It is such a good feeling to know that while we are getting a good night's sleep, our local law enforcement officers are exerting every effort to see that our business is being protected.

We would appreciate your printing this letter so that these fine men will know that their efforts are appreciated.

Yours very truly,
Mr. & Mrs. Richard Vaughan

City officials said today that motorists are not observing laws and safety precautions at school crossings.

Officials say the city ordinance calls for drivers to come to a stop at any time of day at a school crossing, even if no stop sign is in sight. Motorists have not been stopping, they say.

Weaver Does Some Figuring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earl Weaver, bless his optimistic soul, has finally figured out the American League East pennant scramble. All he needs to win it is a little help from his friends.

After his Baltimore Orioles absorbed a vital 9-1 and 4-0 doubleheader sweep at the hands of front-running Boston to tumble 2½ games off the Red Sox' pace Wednesday night, Weaver studied his handy, dandy baseball schedule and discovered that Boston spends the next four days playing second-place Detroit.

Then the Baltimore boss offered his analysis.

"I'll be rooting for my good friend Billy Martin Thursday and Saturday," revealed Weaver. "And I'll be rooting for my good friend Eddie Kasko Friday and Sunday. If my good friends win, we'll get Boston three in a row and we'll be all even with three games to go."

Simple, huh.

Managers Martin of the Tigers and Kasko of the Red Sox are in infinitely better shape than Weaver today. Detroit trimmed Cleveland 4-1 Wednesday night and is second, one game behind the Sox with 12 to play compared to Boston's 13.

That's an awful lot better than Weaver's Orioles, now third, 2½ behind with only nine to play. Fourth place New York, rained out at Milwaukee, is 3½ behind with 12 games remaining.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday night, Oakland reduced its magic number in the West to seven by whipping Chicago 6-3, Minnesota topped Texas 3-1 and Kansas City defeated California 9-2.

In the National League, Pittsburgh's magic number for clinching the East remained at one as the Pirates lost 4-1 to New York and second place Chicago defeated Montreal 6-2. Cincinnati reduced its clinching number to two, beating San Francisco 8-6 while runnerup Houston was losing to Atlanta, 13-6. In other games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1 and Los Angeles topped San Diego 5-3.

Baltimore's slumbering bats ran into two hot pitchers in Boston and Marty Pattin and Luis Tiant simply proved to be too much for the Orioles.

Pattin surrendered five hits in the opener and had an easy time of it when Boston exploded for seven runs in the fourth inning. Carlton Fisk drove in three runs and Rico Petrocelli and Dwight Evans two apiece for the Red Sox.

The victory ran Pattin's record to 15-12 after a horrendous 2-9 start. He is 13-3 since June 12.

Tiant has been even hotter. The veteran right-hander with the herky-jerky motion, improved his record to 13-5 with a four-hitter in the nightcap. He has won nine of his last 10 games and six of his last seven victories have been shutouts.

Evans contributed a triple and homer to the second game victory.

Woody Fryman fired a sixhitter and drove in a pair of runs with a clutch single after Duke Sims, another NL refugee, had snapped a ninth inning tie with a double.

The victory gave Fryman an 8-2 record with the Tigers since coming over from Philadelphia in early August. Since his arrival, Fryman alone has won more games for the Tigers than Mickey Lolich, Tom Timmerman and Joe Coleman have won combined.

The Yankees were trailing 2-0 against Milwaukee before the rain washed out the deficit and the game. It will be replayed tonight.

After their five-hour, 15-inning marathon the night before, Oakland and Chicago played a relatively routine encore with the A's winning 6-3, restoring their West Division edge to five games over the slipping Sox.

Ken Holtzman won his 18th game—a career high—for Oakland while Wilbur Wood, 24-15, took the loss. Home runs by Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando in the second inning posted the A's towards the victory.

John Mayberry crashed a first-inning grand slam homer and pitcher Steve Busby drove in three runs with a double and two singles as Kansas City trimmed California. Busby limited the Angels to six hits and had what appeared to be a grand slam homer nullified in the first inning when Umpire John Rice ruled that time had been called before he swung the bat.

Minnesota rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, two of them on a bases-loaded single by Bob Darwin to overtake Texas. The Rangers, limited to only two hits in eight innings against Jim Perry, led 10 until the late Twins' comeback.

Seaver Delays Clincher

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Question 1: Did Tom Seaver have a good fastball?

Question 2: Did the Pittsburgh Pirates clinch the National League East pennant?

If you know the answer to No. 1 is "yes," you can rest assured the answer to No. 2 is "no."

Seaver had his fastball and his hard slider and his curve Wednesday night and the result was the New York Mets temporarily beached the Pirates' flag-clinching party by beating them 4-1.

The Pirates need just one victory or a loss by the secondplace Chicago Cubs, but the victory isn't coming easily.

Pittsburgh took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Vic Davalillo's triple and Rennie Stennett's single but Seaver bore down.

The Mets scored three runs in the third, two of them on Duffy Dyer's triple. Jim Beauchamp added a run with a sacrifice fly. The fourth New York run was driven in by Jim Fregosi's single in the fourth.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 8-6, Atlanta thumped Houston 13-6, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1, Chicago downed Montreal 6-2 and Los Angeles clipped San Diego 5-3.

In the American League Boston beat Baltimore 9-1 and 4-0, and it was Detroit 4, Cleveland 1; Minnesota 3, Texas 1; Oakland 6, Chicago 3; and Kansas City 9, California 2.

Cincinnati is another team with champagne on ice; the Reds' magic number is two. Pete Rose capped a four-run rally in the eighth with a tworun triple. Johnny Bench had hit his 36th homer to give the NL West-leading Reds a 1-0 lead and Bobby Tolan added two more with his eighth homer.

Atlanta scored all 13 runs in the second inning. Felix Millan drove in five with a triple and single and Dusty Baker hit a three-run homer. The Braves sent 19 batters to the plate against four Astro pitchers. Houston's Cesar Cedeno hit a two-run homer and Doug Rader hit a three-run shot.

Steve Carlton outpitched the man he was traded for and won his 25th for Philadelphia. Rick Wise of St. Louis was touched for a run in the first and another in the sixth. Tommy Hutton drove in the first Phils' run and scored the second.

Milt Pappas won his 200th career victory when the Cubs beat Montreal. He was backed by Glenn Beckert's two-run single and solo homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo. Mike Jorgensen and Ron Fairly hit homers for the Expos.

Manny Mota's two-run pinch single in the eighth broke a tie for a Los Angeles victory.

Carlton Rules Roost

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lefthander Steve Carlton celebrated a happy 25th Wednesday night as his former manager, Red Schoendienst, hit a sour note on his 25th.

Carlton, the gangling pitcher the Cards dealt away to the Philadelphia Phils in the spring, notched his 25th victory in stopping the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 on six hits.

Meanwhile, it was a frustrating 25th wedding anniversary for Schoendienst, who watched his team absorb its fourth loss of the season at Carlton's hand.

Carlton's victory achieved a target his wife Beverly has had posted on mirrors with lipstick in their home the past two seasons. Last season, after a fast start, the 27-year-old pitcher settled for 20.

"For a while I was thinking 30 wins," he said, "but I'll settle for this."

The Cards, who scored only two runs off Carlton in the four games they lost to him, kept the pace against their former teammate for only five innings.

Tommy Hutton led off the sixth with a double off ex-Phils right-hander Rick Wise (15-16) and moved to third on Willie Montanez' bouncer to the mound.

Hutton remained at third as Greg Luzinski delivered an infield hit but scored as rookie Bill Robinson grounded out to second base in breaking a 1-1 tie.

Denny Doyle had scored Philadelphia's first run in the opening inning by doubling, moving over on a sacrifice bunt by Larry Bowa and riding home on a Hutton single.

But St. Louis drew even in the bottom of the same frame on a hopper past Bowa for a double, a stolen base and Ted Sizemore's single.

Carlton threw only 115 pitches and had a low strikeout total of three in steaming heat. "Whether I'd finish became a question mark," conceded the 6-foot-5 ex-Redbird, who lost 10 pounds during the game.

"This is a big thrill," he conceded, "but nothing can match the 15 wins in a row I had earlier in the season."

Big Red Tackle Skins Sunday

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- One upset victory already behind them, the St. Louis Football Cardinals set their sights on a second Sunday when they battle a rugged NFC Eastern Division opponent -- the Washington Redskins -- in a pivotal early-season meeting at RFK Stadium.

Kickoff for the Big Red's second straight road outing is set for noon (CDT).

The Big Red opened the regular season in impressive fashion last week, stopping the Baltimore Colts, 10-3, in Baltimore. The Cardinal defense, although allowing 364 total yards, repeatedly stopped Colt drives and permitted only a field goal. The Redskins beat the Minnesota Vikings in a Monday night game in their opener.

Offensively, the Cardinals were stymied most of the game by the Colts' defense, but came up with several game- winning plays. One was a 71- yard pass from Tim Van Galder to Jackie Smith that set up a four- yard touchdown run by Donny Anderson on a crucial third-down situation. Van Galder, starting his first game at quarterback after three years on the St. Louis taxi squad, finished with 10 completions in 15 passes for 110 yards.

"The victory was an important one to us, particularly with the tough schedule we have ahead of us," Coach Bob Hollway said. "We made the most of our opportunities against one of the toughest defenses in the NFL. However, we know we must become more productive offensively and control the ball more."

Leading the defensive effort against the Colts was tackle Bob Rowe, who blocked three Baltimore field goals and added four unassisted tackles. In addition, the Big Red intercepted two John Unitas passes -- one by linebacker Mike McGill, which set up Jim Bakken's 41-yard field goal, and the other by Larry Wilson, which ended a Colts scoring threat on the Big Red two- yard line.

The Redskins, who whipped the Colts 33-3 during the pre- season, gained the NFL playoffs last year in George Allen's first season as head coach. Last year, Washington finished with a 9-4-1 regular season record and posted three victories over the Cardinals -- a 20-13 decision in the pre- season and 24-17 and 20-0 wins during the regular season.

"Washington will be another rugged test for us," Hollway said. "For the Cardinals to have a good season, we must beat the teams in our division, and the Redskins definitely are one of those teams."

The Washington game will be a milestone for Big Red offensive tackle Ernie McMillan, who will be playing in his 148th consecutive game as a Cardinal, tying Bobby Joe Conrad's team record. In addition, Wilson set a new team mark last week by starting his 13th season with the Big Red. McMillan, who began his 12th year, is tied for second place in career service with Ken Gray.

Following the Washington battle, the Cardinals will move to St. Louis to open their home season against the improved Pittsburgh Steelers on Oct. 1.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Cardiovascular specialists at the Arizona Heart Institute report that every 24 hours the human heart contracts and relaxes 100,000 times — moving 4,300 gallons of blood through 60,000 miles of arteries, veins and capillaries in the human body.

Mingo To Observe National Hunting , Fishing Day

PUXICO — Mingo National Wildlife Refuge will hold an "open house" Saturday in observance of National Hunting and Fishing Day.

Proclamations issued by President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Warren E. Hearnes in observance of this day pay tribute to the nation's hunters and fishermen, who have contributed so much toward the conservation movement.

Areas such as Mingo and the state- operated Duck Creek Wildlife Management Area were acquired with funds from duck stamp and hunting license sales and taxes on sporting arms and ammunition.

The refuge auto tour will be open from noon until dusk and refuge personnel will be on hand to answer questions. The tour route will be the same one normally open on Sunday afternoons during October and November. Archaeological escavation being done on the Bluff road Indian mound will be of particular interest and Professor Scott Grantham, Southeast Missouri State University anthropologist, will be on hand during the open house to discuss this work with visitors.

Anti- hunting sentiment is currently running high in this country, Refuge Manager Jerry Clawson notes. Many people, including members of new environmental organizations, are unaware of sportsmen's contributions to conservation. Non- game species benefit greatly from the lands and waters made available by sportsmen dollars, and bird watchers, photographers and other people also benefit by having these lands available for this use.

Mingo refuge is administered by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Department of Interior.

grid quiz

by Dave Nelson, executive secretary, NCAA Football Rules Committee

The Ohio State quarterback on third down and 8 is forced to run out of his protecting pocket and scrambles back and forth across the field. His wide receiver, positioned eight yards outside the legal clipping zone at the snap, moves downfield but then returns toward the neutral zone and blocks a Missouri player below the waist. The block occurs in the legal clipping zone extended to the sidelines before the ball has advanced beyond the zone. The play gains four yards. The block was towards the ball at the snap.

The official should:

1. Declare fourth down and 4 yards to gain.

2. Penalize Ohio State 15 yards from the spot of the block below the waist.

3. Penalize Ohio State 15 yards from the spot of the snap.

Answer: Number 2. Penalize Ohio State 15 yards from the spot of the block below the waist.

Rule: (9-1-2-e) Offensive players positioned five or more yards outside the legal clipping zone or in motion toward the ball at the snap are prohibited from blocking below the waist toward the ball in the clipping zone extended to the sidelines.

The Prayer from the Upper Room

Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the Lord his God. (Psalm 146:5)

PRAYER: Lord, help us to be concerned persons rather than complainers. May we spread the good news in our own place. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Hunter Has Conscience Problem

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The Alaska Fish and Game Department has received a cashier's check for $75 from an unidentified Seattle man who said his conscience was bothering him.

State spokesmen said Monday a check for that amount arrived late last week along with a hand- printed note.

The note read:

"While hunting in Alaska, I took game in a manner which was not completely legal. This has bothered me a great degree ... While it is impossible to go back and change the event, I do feel that I can make some correction by sending you an amount of money that I feel I would have paid out if it were done in a legal manner."

The note was not signed. The money was deposited in the state treasury.

Former New York Mets Ron Hunt, Tim Foli, Mike Jorgensen, Ken Singleton and Clyde Mashore are with the Montreal Expos.

What's The Law

The Case Of The Bopped Boob

By Jack Strauss LL. B.

Huey's face was buried in a newspaper as he started to cross a busy intersection. Only luck, however, prevented the rest of him from being buried. As he stepped off the curb he was struck by Mr. Ruppert's automobile and was bounced high into the air. Landing in a hospital, Huey sued Mr. Ruppert for his many aches and pains.

"He was driving without a license." Huey pointed out in court. "That makes him automatically liable for the accident and my banged -up condition.

"That's ridiculous" responded Ruppert. "Huey walked right in front of my car reading a newspaper. Not even Mandrake the Magician could have prevented the boob from being bopped. Consequently, the accident was solely his fault and my not having a driver's license does not make me responsible for his injuries."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the licenseless Mr. Ruppert liable for Huey's banged -up condition?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that driving without a license does not, in and of itself, make a person responsible for injuries arising out of an accident. To be held liable, noted the judge, it must be proved that the accident was his fault.

Ford Division's 1973 Cars

A new Ford car, with fresh front appearance, new sheet metal, and unique features including an optional anti-theft alarm system and a standard spare tire extractor for station wagons, highlights Ford Division offerings for 1973.

"With our bread-and-butter car all new, and with the market leadership we hope to continue with Pinto, Torino, Thunderbird and Mustang, we look forward to 1973 as another record-breaking year," said John Naughton, Ford vice president and Ford Division general manager.

The Division's 39 car models in six lines will make their debut at Ford dealerships Friday, September 22. Availability of all vehicles is subject to Federal emissions certification.

Ford Division continues to expand the availability of radial-ply steel-belted tires which are standard again on the Thunderbird in 1973 and now optional on all other car lines. These tires are offered with a 40,000-mile wear guarantee from the manufacturer.

The Ford car receives a new look, a more convenient instrument panel, and a variety of new features. Thunderbird offers a new optional opera window.

Torino, with two new luxury models, eliminates the high-back bench seat of 1972 and adds a new front grille. Mustang's front bumper now is molded urethane.

Maverick's interior is substantially upgraded. Pinto adds to changes started during the '72 model year both steering and braking refinements besides new paint and trim color selections.

New impact-absorbing bumper systems that meet Federal safety standards are on all 1973 Ford Division cars as are new exhaust emission control devices to help control oxides of nitrogen (NOX).

FORD

The Ford features a new grille, and new sheet metal which give the car a long, formal look. All four-door Fords have new "greenhouses" with increased headroom over similar 1972 models.

Other Ford standard equipment improvements include a new instrument panel which places the radio, heater/air conditioner and clock within easy sight and reach of both the driver and front passengers. The bin-type glove box is twice as large as in 1972. Improved window weather-stripping helps to provide an especially quiet ride. Windshield washers on the wiper arms provide precise amounts of window cleaner exactly where needed. All 1973 Fords also include power front disc brakes.

New options with Fords include a right outside rear-view mirror with its control near the steering column, handy to the driver. Power mini-vent windows are available with four-door models.

Other new options include a recreation table between the optional dual facing rear seats in station wagons, an AM/FM stereo radio with tape player option and an automatic parking brake release.

The anti-theft alarm system also is optional. When the system is armed, forced entry into the passenger or luggage compartments cause the car's horn to sound intermittently for five to seven minutes.

The 460-cubic-inch 4V eight-cylinder engine is an added option with Ford cars. Standard engine for 1973 is Ford's 351-2V, a V-8 accompanied by a standard automatic transmission.

THUNDERBIRD

The 1973 Thunderbird offers a new front appearance produced by a new grille, standup hood ornament and larger, impact-absorbing bumper. Front and rear headroom is increased.

Radial-ply steel-belted white sidewall tires are standard, as are a refined rear suspension, larger rear brakes, and bright bodyside protection molding with a black vinyl insert.

TORINO

An all-new car in 1972, the Ford Torino has a new front appearance in 1973. Low-back front bench seats are standard, and an electric rear window defroster is now optional for station wagons.

A new Torino series is added. It includes the Gran Torino Brougham two-door hardtop and four-door pillared hardtop. They replace the Brougham Interior Trim Group option of 1972.

MUSTANG

Ford Mustang's five models—still the widest choice in the small specialty segment—include Ford Division's only convertible for 1973. All Mustangs carry a new grille, and molded urethane front bumpers which match the body color.

Five new paint colors and two new trim colors are offered. New options include forged aluminum wheels and a two-tone hood with twist-type hood locks.

Other new options include a leather-wrapped steering wheel, a revised protection package and rear bumper guards.

Most changed Ford Division car for 1973 is the full-sized Ford. Shown here is the LTD four-door hardtop. All-new sheet metal below the window line and a new segmented grille give the 1973 Ford a more formal look. All 1973 Fords have a new impact-absorbing bumper system, although the overall length of the car is increased only about one inch. Power front disc brakes, power steering, SelectShift Cruise-O-Matic transmission and a 351-2V eight-cylinder engine are standard in all new Fords.

THE '73 FORDS ARE HERE.

The airborne glider. 82 decibels at 60 mph.

At 60 mph a '73 Ford LTD rode quieter than an airborne glider.

On July 27, 1972, General Radio Co. tested a '73 LTD against an airborne glider. Both at 60 mph and with identical sound level meters. The result: the Ford was quieter. But the new LTD is more than just quiet. It is well made from its power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic transmission, standard equipment, to its luxurious, comfortable, roomy interior. There are 16 new Ford models to choose from and each will convince you that quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

Chances are you won't try to balance yourself on top of your new Torino. But, when you're riding inside, you'll still appreciate Torino's refined suspension—because it helps to cushion bumps, absorb road vibrations and reduce body sway. You feel solidly in control while you ride in comfort and luxury.

'73 Pinto: When you get back to basics, you get back to Ford.

Ford, the company that built the first basic, solid, reliable car seventy years ago—has built today's basic, solid reliable car: Pinto. It's become America's top selling economy car for more reasons than economy. Here are some of those reasons: A 1600 cc. engine developed and perfected in over 10 years of actual driving. Rack-and-pinion steering. Solid welded body, electrocoated to fight corrosion. 4-speed transmission—lubed for life. Everything we've learned in seventy years of car making—all the basics—we build into every Pinto Wagon, Runabout and Sedan. When you get back to basics, you get back to Pinto.

There are 39 new models to choose from.

And every 1973 Ford, Thunderbird, Torino, Mustang, Maverick and Pinto—comes equipped with new energy-absorbing bumpers and steel guard rails in all side doors. Steel-belted radial ply tires and AM/FM stereo radios are options on all models. Test-drive these new Fords at your Ford Dealer's now.
